Cold Wave Hits Midwest; Mercury To Reach Zero

New snow ranging in depth from one to six inches covered Ohio today in the wake of a cold wave which sent temperatures plummeting during the night

And a new cold wave is moving in from the West, weather forecasters said

THE SNOWFALL here measured one and one-half inches, enough to make driving hazardous

The state highway department and highway patrol weather reports said all state highways were covered with snow and were slippery.

Road crews were out trying to remove the new snowfall and make traffic on major highways less hazardous

The patrol appealed to motorists not to make unnecessary trips Officers reported at least two semi-trailer trucks overturned into ditches during the night one on US 23 south of Columbus and another on U S 40 east of Reynoldsburg No injuries were reported.

THE TEMPERATURE in Marion dropped from a high of 48 Thursday afternoon to a low of 16 above last night It rose to 18 at mid-morning but skidded again to 13 shortly before noon

The Ohio weather forecast called for gradually falling temperatures with snow flurries today and lows of zero to five above tonight Continued cold weather is expected Saturday.

The Associated Press reported sub zero weather in the Midwest and near freezing temperatures southward to the Gulf of Mexico Below zero readings were as far southward as the northern border of Kansas northeast Missouri and central Illinois

Coldest weather was in the Dakotas and Minnesota with readings of more than 20 degrees below zero At Bismarck, N D , the mercury dropped to 23 below and there was no general immediate relief in sight for the Midwest

Freshly fallen snow in many parts of the frigid belt was drifted by strong northerly winds and in Ohio

The biggest snow drifts were reported near Toledo and Newark Heaviest snowfall, with unofficial measurements of 5-10 inches came in the hilly sections of east-central Ohio

Local road crews like others throughout the state were out today with trucks and snow plows clearing the snow away from main roads

The weather bureau reported sharp dips in temperature during the night At Cincinnati, the mercury dropped from 53 yesterday to 14 early this morning while the drops were 46-15 and 52-19 at Mansfield and Columbus respectively

State Senators Adopt Curbs on Telephone Use

'Hogging' Party Line Hit in New Bill; Vote On Measure Is 32-1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You soon may be able to jail telephone users who "hog" partly lines during fire, stork and other emergencies.

Ohio senators voted 32-1 to fix the maximum penalty at 30 days in jail and a $500 fine. Representatives may follow suit.

That would assure enactment of the proposal by Sen Delbert L Latta (R-Hancock) that reads

"No person shall refuse to surrender the use of a party telephone line to another who requests the line to contact medical, law enforcement or fire fighting agencies or ambulance service in emergency situations.

"Nor shall any person falsely claim such emergency telephone line priority when no emergency exists "

Skeptics questioned whether such a law could be enforced But Latta said he saw nothing really difficult about it

"It's just a matter of establishing identity of the person who refuses to get off the line temporarily," the senator observed. He added.

Charges would be filed with prosecutors, justices of the peace or mayors and the cases would be handled like other criminal matters

Partly-line subscribers usually are familiar with other users People in emergencies often have witnesses who would testify for them in court

If it's one person's word against another's, the situation would be

Chief Executive Tries Luck at Quail Shooting

THOMASVILLE, Ga (AP)—President Eisenhower, happy over a modest start, tries his hunting luck again today in a quest for south Georgia quail.

The chief executive arrived here shortly before dark yesterday and brought down two birds in an hour's shooting So did his host Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. They were 10 under the daily limit of 12

Aides said Eisenhower was pleased when he managed to bag a couple of birds before darkness brought him back to Humphrey's plantation estate, a 600-acre place known as Milestone The President had said with a grin as he started out aboard a mule-drawn hunting roadster:

"Well, if we don't find 'em in about 15 minutes, it'll be a bad day "

The President and Humphrey, their wives and Mrs Eisenhower's mother Mrs John S Doud flew from Washington to Spence Air Base at Moultrie, Ga , 35 miles to the northeast. Also along was Clifford Roberts, New York investment banker and an old golfing pal of Eisenhower.

The party traveled to Thomasville by motor car, and the President—even though it was close to the dinner hour—changed from business clothes quickly and set out for quail.

Receives Greetings From Ike

Albert Woolson, North's Lone Civil War Vet, 108

DULUTH, Minn (AP) — Albert Woolson, sole survivor of the Civil War's "Boys in Blue " was celebrating his 108th birthday today, with personal greetings from President Eisenhower.

"Such an anniversary is meaningful, not only to your loyal personal friends but to people throughout America who regard with honor the brave men on either side of the conflict in which you served nearly a century ago," the President wrote in a special delivery letter received at the Woolson home last night.

"You have my best wishes for a happy and memorable celebration "

Woolson's only public appearance was the dedication at City Hall of a pedestal holding a bust of the veteran, presented to the city last fall.

Tonight 18 members of Woolson's immediate family will have an informal birthday dinner for him at the home of his daughter Mrs John Kobus After that will follow a short open house for some 40 close friends and neighbors

Woolson says his chief ambition is to "get winter over and take a long walk " He also confides that he expects to live another three or four years

Even before the letter arrived from the White House, Woolson had some advice for the President on the current Formosa situation

"If President Eisenhower asked me, I'd say let's stay home and mind our own business I d caution Ike to stay out of those islands "

This was the first year when Woolson hasn t been out shoveling snow from the sidewalks

"My advancing years are slowing me down," he explained.

It affects the working conditions paid holidays and hours of from 23 000 to 25 000 workers in 10 plants located in nine states

Both company and union officials declined to spell out terms pending another meeting today to tie up loose ends

More than 40 negotiators have taken part in the talks which opened Jan. 10 Buckmaster sat in on the final stages of the talks

Lower Tariff Policy Faces Test in House

Sponsors of Program Predict Passage With No Major Revisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of President Eisenhower's lower-tariff trade program predicted today it will survive a close test on the House floor without major change

They commented after the House Ways and Means Committee approved the administration bill late yesterday by a surprisingly top-heavy 20-5 vote

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) set next Thursday and Friday for floor action on the bill, which would extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for three years past June 12 with renewed tariff-cutting powers

Under this act the President may negotiate lower tariffs on foreign products coming into the United States, in exchange for trade benefits to American products abroad

Specifically, the bill would permit the President in negotiations, to lower tariffs in any of three ways he could cut them 5 per cent each year from present levels, he could cut tariffs now above 50 per cent of the value of the goods down to that level, or on products not now coming into the United States in appreciable amounts, he could chop rates 50 per cent below the levels of Jan 1, 1945

The Republican-controlled Congress balked at a similar bill last year and Eisenhower settled for a one-year extension of the act without added power to cut tariffs

Rep Daniel A Reed (R-NY), senior Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, announced he will fight on the House floor for more protection for American industries.

Tito Entering No Alliances

Yugoslavia's Dictator Says Blocs Dangerous

BELGRADE Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito said again today that Yugoslavia will not enter any bloc—Communist or Western—but will pursue an independent course to 'support the policy of peace "

Sun-bronzed from his 73-day trip to India Burma and Egypt the Yugoslav Communist leader disembarked from the naval ship Galeb at the Adriatic seaport of Rijeka Belgrade radio reported thousands cheered him and singing schoolchildren scattered flowers over the waterfront

"We believe that blocs lead toward conflicts and conflicts are the major danger of humanity," Tito declared in a speech on arriving

"The race in arms exists," he said "We will not join those who believe that problems should be settled by arms That would mean a catastrophe for the human race "

Pflimlin May Be Premier

French Economic Expert Tries To Form Cabinet

PARIS (AP) Pierre Pflimlin member of 13 postwar French governments and staunch advocate of West German rearmament, sought today to line up enough support to become France's new premier.

Assembly circles voiced a friendly reaction to his candidacy last night and observers gave the 48-year-old Alsatian lawyer better than an even chance of marshaling sufficient backing to get the job.

Pflimlin, a member of the Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP), has devoted himself mainly to domestic affairs in his various Cabinet posts and is little known outside France He served as agriculture minister in eight cabinets and also has headed the ministries of health, national economy commerce and overseas territories

After Antoine Pinay gave up the ghost yesterday, President Rene Coty s next logical choice was a member of the MRP The party was one of Pierre Mendes-France's bitterest opponents during his stormy premiership and also doomed Pinay's chances by refusing to give him solid support Backers of those two men might retaliate by opposing any member of the Catholic group

In Pflimlin's favor was his stand on the Paris treaties for German rearmament, whose ratification by Parliament's upper house will be one of the main problems awaiting any new premier The MRP had ordered its members to oppose the treaties but Pflimlin defied party orders and voted for them

The present government crisis followed Mendes - France s defeat last Saturday on a vote of confidence

More 'Shakeups' Predicted

Fight for Soviet Control Believed in Third Stage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top American officials are reported convinced on the basis of careful analysis that there will eventually be more trouble among the little group of men which rules Russia.

The demotion of Georgi M Malenkov his replacement as premier by Nikolai A. Bulganin, the emergence of Communist party boss the beginning of a third phase in the struggle for power.

The struggle dates, of course, from Joseph Stalin's death in March 1953. It reached its first climax with the purging of secret police boss Lavrenty P. Beria.

Most officials concerned with analyzing Soviet government behavior agree on several conclusions about the shakeup which startled the world Tuesday

1 The massive Soviet system needs a dictator for its most effective operations and tends to produce a dictator when it does not have one

2 There is more evidence than ever that since Stalin's death the dozen men who boss the Communist system have been caught up in personal rivalries and that these struggles will continue until a new dictator clearly appears.

3. While Khrushchev is the strong man now, his power cannot yet be considered to be firmly established.

4. The Soviet army has gained in the appearance of political strength and authority but whether it has real weight is uncertain.

5. The Old Bolsheviks are the most powerful group in the Presidium of the Central Committee of the Communist party of the Soviet Union. They are the men

Armada May Quit Tachens By Saturday

February Gale Rips Sea Off East China, Slows Embarkation

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist soldiers dynamited and put the torch to trenches, pill boxes and buildings today and U S Navy officers said the evacuation of the Tachen Islands was in its final phase

February gale winds that had slowed the operation to a crawl died and steady loading continued. Officers said the Armada probably would wind up its job and sail by Saturday.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said it felt the withdrawal was entering its crucial stage with most land fortifications blown up and equipment and troops ready for shipping.

Critical Period

It said this was a critical period although there was no indication the Communists meant to attack

AP Correspondent Forrest Edwards, aboard a U S aircraft carrier, reported indications on his ship that the troop withdrawal is a one-shot affair

Nationalist troops, guns and equipment will be loaded and the whole armada, including the protective warships, will make the trip to Formosa together, Edwards said.

Carriers and pilots were prepared to shift their jet and propeller-driven air cover umbrella from the Tachens to the ocean lanes to Formosa, he reported.

"It seems certain that the evacuation fleet will have air cover from the time it leaves the islands until it gets to Formosa," he quoted a Navy briefing officer. "We are ready to shift cover whenever ordered "

Special Mission

The carrier Princeton, especially adapted for antisubmarine warfare, has been assigned a special protective mission as the evacuation sails for Formosa. It seemed almost certain that other carriers would provide air cover and antisubmarine patrols while evacuation ships are still near the Tachens.

The two Tachens and the Yu Shan group to the northeast and Pishan to the southwest have been stripped of all civilians.

Nationalist troops in number remain only on Upper Tachen. Work details remained on Lower Tachen. The other islands were abandoned.

The U S. attack transport Washburn arrived here today with 1 185 Nationalist troops, the vanguard of Chiang Kai-shek's U S -trained 46th Division, and 520 tons of ammunition Trains shuttled the troops off for south Formosa military camps

Most in U.S. Ships

The official Central News Agency said 16,070 civilians had arrived at the northern Formosan port of Keelung Fleet dispatches said U S ships had removed 14 920 civilians from the Tachens and Nationalist craft had taken off 973

Refugees were quartered in schools and other relief centers. The U S Foreign Operations Administration was reported to have set aside eight million dollars for rehabilitation and the Chinese government appropriated five million dollars for rehabilitation and the Chinese government appropriated five million Formosa dollars ($333,000)

While the Tachen withdrawal near completion, a storm appeared

Motives Behind Kremlin Shuffle Remain Obscure

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—What lies behind the Kremlin shuffle can only be guessed at. There have been plenty of guesses. No one can argue with certainty his guess is right. It's too soon and there's not enough solid evidence.

This writer knows of no one in the government, and reporters have asked plenty of questions, who pretends to speak with positiveness about events in Moscow this week.

It has been traditional practice to view Kremlin turnovers as resulting from power struggles and to predict an aftermath of bloody purges. There have been some previous examples to support such a view.

BUT IT DOESN'T necessarily follow, and may be only wishful thinking to believe so, that this must always be the case. That would assume Russian Communists are too inflexible and stereotyped to meet new situations differently.

Because Georgi M. Malenkov was dropped down to deputy premier, it has been argued he had lost in a power struggle with Nikita S. Khrushchev and that the latter is now the No. 1 man and Stalin's heir as dictator. But there can be an opposite view.

From the time of Stalin's death in 1953 it has generally been understood—and this was also a guess—that his principal heirs, the top Russian Communists, have ruled as a committee with no one of them dominant.

Malenkov was a member of this ruling clique. It's possible he has been only a front man from the beginning and now, with reasons still obscure but with his consent, the clique has decided he should step aside for another front man.

HIS SUCCESSOR as premier, Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, has been described as strictly a front man, either for the party or for Khrushchev.

But if a committee is boss, and not Khrushchev at all, the time may come when Bulganin will be told to step aside to make way for Khrushchev or someone else.

A lot of significance has been read into the appointment of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov as defense minister. Unlike Bulganin, who is a political general, Zhukov is a real soldier and war hero.

Zhukov's elevation could mean, and has been so interpreted, that the generals have grown strong enough to force the Communist leaders to share authority with them. If that is so, they might in time take full control.

But a contrary view can be offered with as much legitimacy that the Communist clique asked Zhukov to take the job either because of his ability or to give the impression at home or abroad that the army fully supports the party.

Here are some other theories for the shakeup:

Internal trouble; failure of the farm program; decision to step up armaments; Communist failures abroad, particularly in the West's agreement to rearm Germany; realization Russia with soft talk made no progress while the tough-talking Red Chinese made plenty.

HOUSEWIFE TIED UP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two men bound and gagged a housewife yesterday and escaped after forcing their way into her home in a vain search for money, police reported. Authorities in suburban Bexley quoted Mrs. Sarah Reed, 49, saying the pair represented themselves as Department of Justice agents. A passing neighbor freed Mrs. Reed.

New York Utility Submits Plan

Privately Financed Atom Power Plant Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional atomic energy specialists today hailed as highly significant the plan of Consolidated Edison Co of New York to build the nation s first privately financed nuclear power plant

H R Searing president of the big utility which serves the New York metropolitan area made the announcement to the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee yesterday

The plant to cost an estimated 30 to 40 million dollars is to be built five miles south of Peekskill N Y on the Hudson River

Searing estimated it would be a year before construction begins and at least four years before the plant is in service It would probably have a generating capacity of about 125 000 kilowatts of electricity—large enough to serve a city of 250 000

Searing said his firm should be ready to apply for a license before April 1

The nation s first commercial nuclear power plant is now under construction at Shippingport Pa near Pittsburgh as a joint project of the Duquesne Light Co and the Atomic Energy Commission

Searing conceded his company s plans for a privately financed plant leave numerous problems to be solved But he declared, "Our chief objective has been to get something done, for we firmly believe that only by actual construction of projects can the art be placed on a commercial basis"

Searing said Babcock and Wilcox boiler manufacturing concern, was designing the reactor Consolidated Edison believes best suited to its purposes He said it should be 'reasonably competitive with conventional plants in our area"

Sen Anderson (D-NM) chairman of the joint committee said Searing s statement was 'very very important and added

'It shows that if the (atomic energy) commission will just take the wraps off there ll be plenty of fellows waiting to jump in"

Anderson said the announcement shows the AEC was mistaken in views presented to the committee last week Kenneth D Nichols, AEC general manager said then the agency thought noprivate company was willing at this point to put up its own money to build an atomic power reactor For that reason he said the commission has gone ahead with its program under which the government would put up a share of the cost

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 8:38, 39—"I am sure that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus, our Lord." (RSV).

* * *

The Apostle Paul runs the gamut, here, in his listing of the possible things that can happen to a person in his lifetime. Paul, in his own lifetime, had experienced many more hardships—much more persecution—than most of us have ever experienced, or will ever experience, in our lives: imprisonments, beatings with lashes and rods, stoning, shipwrecks, in hunger and thirst, in danger from robbers and false brethren. This statement was, then, no idle sentence to fill up a letter. It was a statement of personal faith—a faith that had been tried and tested over and over again in the fires of adversity. It was this solid, steadfast, tried faith, upon which Paul had built his Christian life, that enabled him to write to the church at Ephesus, from his Roman prison, near the end of his life: "always and for everything giving thanks in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to God the Father."

It is this vital, tested, personal faith in the living God of Jesus Christ that alone can give us the security, the peace of mind and soul, the hope that we so desperately need in this great hour of testing, when world tensions are so acute, and the weapons of warfare are so horrible. Let us never forget that the love of God in Christ is stronger than any power in the world; and that we may abide in that everlasting power and love and security by faith, through Jesus Christ, who lived, and died, and rose again, and lives eternally "at the right hand of God, the Father," that through him, all men may live in eternal security.

No Duck Thief

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The elderly man said he wasn't the fellow who had been stealing ducks recently from Spreckels Lake in Golden Gate Park. He told officer Victor Wilcox he was just bringing his pet duck Elmer down for his daily swim.

The man put Elmer's box down by the water's edge. After Elmer swam far out, the man took a breath and bellowed, "Elllll-mmerr!"

Straight back to shore and into the box went Elmer.

Then the man asked Wilcox: "Well?"

Lincoln Fooled Them

It is as foolish to guess what Abraham Lincoln might say about current issues as it is to quote what he did say about issues in his lifetime.

But there is something to be learned by looking for clues to what historians concede was the greatness of the crude frontiersman who was pushed into enduring fame by the expediences of mid-19th-century politics in America.

Lincoln was not a conformist. He had a strong affinity for the minority point of view.

He never achieved respectability among those who considered themselves to be the reigning trustees of that exalted condition. He was spurned by Washington high society even when he was in the White House; when he was in Congress he was regarded as a picturesque rube from the hinterlands.

During his troubled years in the presidency, the adjective most frequently hurled at him by pundits and men of political and financial power was "imbecilic." They despised him for his simplicities and his jokes. He maddened them with his lifelong habit of thinking first of the feelings of people, instead of complex strategems and schemes.

It wasn't until his death and the spontaneous outpouring of grief by his fellow Americans that the imposing public figures of the day realized they had been overshadowed by a gaunt and gawky frontiersman with a squeaky voice and a manner of thinking and acting so simple and honest they had mistaken it on many occasions for dim-wittedness.

When the time came to choose a Republican candidate in 1864, the great men of the party — Greeley, Beecher, Reed and so on — wanted to drop Lincoln. When they were unable to accomplish that, they tried to supplant him with a stronger candidate in a rump convention, but the scheme failed.

What Lincoln would be saying today is problematic. But it is a foregone conclusion it would not be what "respectable" people would be wanting him to say. They would be punching holes in his ideas and reviling him to the best of their ability, thereby making certain that he would belong to the ages while they would be forgotten in obscurity.

Most Evil on Earth

Attorney General O'Neill's characterization of narcotics peddlers as the "most evil individuals on earth," in his recommendations to the General Assembly for new laws, reflects the general opinion of Ohioans.

One recommendation in particular seems sensible — that possession of a specified minimum amount of narcotics should be made prima facie evidence of an illegal act. This would make it possible for enforcement officials to pick up suspected peddlers on sight and arrest them for possession of drugs, without having to catch them in the act of making a sale.

It goes without saying that all persons connected in any way with the narcotics traffic should be put away for long prison terms—preferably long enough to insure death before their release. Those who know what they are doing—and all of them except the most ignorant of the first-offender juveniles they prey on do know—are the "most evil individuals on earth." They have set out to bring about the debasement of human beings for gain.

The terms recommended by O'Neill range from a minimum of two years for first offenders to a maximum of life for chronic offenders.

Here is one place where Ohioans will not expect any legislative quibbling. The narcotics investigation conducted by the office of the attorney general has revealed the need for a strengthening of Ohio law. There is neither room nor need for debate on what should be in store for the "most evil individuals on earth." The limit is not tough enough.

The Fellow Is Undaunted

People who have been muttering angrily that they would like to get their hands on the fellow who had been wondering whatever happened to old-fashioned winters can quit muttering.

The fellow has come forward and turned himself in. He says he has no regrets and would do the same thing again. He goes further than that and says he has nothing but contempt for panty-waists who think a few snowflakes and a couple of cold nights make an old-fashioned winter.

"No more so than a few swallows make a summer," he declares. "In an old-fashioned winter, weather like the weather we're having now was the rule, not the exception. It began to get rough in December and, except for a thaw in January, settled in for an unbroken stay until the ice broke up in mid-April. There used to be snow still visible in May in places sheltered from the sun. The ice on the ponds would be two feet thick — thick enough to make electric refrigeration unnecessary. Bobsleds would be in use from Thanksgiving right straight through until the end of the maple sugar season. That, brother, was an old-fashioned winter. Today, if an effete motorist has to scrape frost off a windshield, he thinks he is roughing it. Why we used to have frost . . ."

There was a good deal more of this, but you get the idea.

The fellow who wonders what happened to old-fashioned winters is still wondering. He cannot be intimidated by threats of bodily injury.

Free World's Opportunity

By David Lawrence

Gesture of Friendship Would Deter Aggressor

What a golden opportunity the spokesmen of the free world have missed in the last 48 hours! Instead of public expressions that fluctuate between fear over whether a "tougher" Soviet policy is in prospect or whether the road is open to more appeasement, the governmental leaders on this side of the Iron Curtain could well have drawn attention to the plight of the Soviet peoples and to measures that some day can bring their liberation.

For the whole world has been witness to the operations of a totalitarian regime which is worse than any of the despotic monarchies of the past.

Quite incidentally — it arose out of a reminiscence by the President of a talk he had in 1945 with Marshal Zhukov, the new minister of defense in the Moscow government — Eisenhower told his press conference Wednesday how he had described to Zhukov the operation of a free government. The President said:

"Now, I explained to him (Zhukov) how absolutely impossible it was for a democracy to organize a surprise aggression against anybody. Our processes are open. Every time you get money or you change anything in your military affairs, you go to Congress. It is debated. There is no possibility of a country such as ours producing a completely surprise attack on any other. And that is what I was emphasizing to him."

THIS VERY WEEK, however, Malenkov was forced out by a little group of men who imposed a premier without consulting the 200 million people of Soviet Russia.

Everybody knows that the main crisis inside the Soviet union today is the lack of food production. Yet the United States has millions of bushels of grain and foodstuffs stored in warehouses, and this surplus could be an instrument of good will more powerful than words.

It will be recalled than when the East German food riots were under way two years ago, President Eisenhower offered food packages. It was a master stroke in good relations with the people of Eastern Europe.

Today the United States, with an abundance of food, is able to help out the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite states, all of which are undernourished because of the restricted food supply.

The people on the mainland of China desperately need rice, as their government at Peiping has been exporting this commodity so as to buy rubber from Ceylon.

If the United States offered the Soviet and Chinese peoples a chance to solve their agricultural problems with farm machinery and promised them, in the meantime, foodstuffs out of the surpluses available here, the way would be opened to the hearts of the tens of millions of persons behind the Iron Curtain.

For the road to peace lies in awakening the peoples in Soviet Russia and the satellite states to the fact that they need not remain enslaved indefinitely and that economic help will be forthcoming if they will only establish free governments which the rest of the world could trust.

THE BILLIONS OF dollars now being spent in preparations for war could in large part be used to give a new life to the people of Soviet Russia and the oppressed peoples of the neighboring states.

Just a few hours after the news of the dismissal of Malenkov became known to the world, President Eisenhower was broadcasting over what is known as a "closed television circuit" to 35 meetings throughout the United States where funds were being raised to support "Radio Free Europe." This is a private organization in which the former under-secretary of state, Walter Bedell Smith, now is playing a prominent part.

In Eisenhower's address there were two pertinent paragraphs:

"While we maintain our vigilance at home and abroad, we must help intensify the will for freedom in the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain. These countries are in the Soviet back yard, and only so long as their people are reminded that the outside world has not forgotten them —only that long do they remain as potential deterrents to Soviet aggression.

"The great majority of the 70 million captives in these satellite countries have known liberty in the past. They now need our constant friendship and help if they are to believe in their future."

HERE WAS THE first word of encouragement to be issued in a long time to some of the peoples behind the Iron Curtain. Back in 1952, during the presidential campaign, there were speeches about "liberation," but the Communists abroad managed to persuade timid persons in Britain and America that, of course, a policy of "liberation" by American arms was being planned.

As a result of such pressure, the idea has been soft-pedaled, so now it is significant that President Eisenhower has boldly proclaimed a revival of hope for the oppressed and enslaved peoples.

That's very good psychological strategy, and, if accompanied by concrete pledges of aid with food, it would contribute much toward a eventual uprising by the peoples throughout the Iron Curtain territory.

Revenge Is Sweet

By TRUMAN TWILL

The thing we like best about television here lately is the revenge men have been getting against women in the play scripts.

It had grown into a scandal, the way the playwrights were depicting husbands, fathers and even unattached males as various kinds and degrees of clowns and ogres. They were doing everything they could do to run down the prestige of the male sex. They still are, as a matter of fact.

The man in the household, on the occasions when his TV prototype is not up to some foul skulduggery, is vicariously blundering into and bumbling out of situations that even a village halfwit would know how to sidestep. When he isn't cavorting in a dunce cap, he is sticking his turkey neck into a hangman's noose.

But the script-writers have discovered the dramatic potentialities of female skulduggery, too.

On almost any night, a TViewer with a sense of justice can flip a switch and see some sweet-faced old lady needling a cup of tea with cyanide, or pushing a helpless baby into a fish pond to drown.

The writers have struck uranium with their decision to exploit the fearful behavior of termagants, spitfires, shrews, vixens, fire-eaters, common scolds, and furies.

Millions of mere men who have squirmed in pain while their worst behaviorisms were being dangled before the wondering eyes of their offspring and the pursed-lip approval of the women in their household are relishing this turn of the dramatic tables.

Instead of suspecting the butler or the gardener, the men now can predict with certainty when the body is found that the culprit was the sister-in-law, the chronic female invalid who stalked through the house in the wee hours, strangling as she went, or the baby-faced wife of the long-suffering husband.

When the play is over, husbands who previously had been ridiculed out of the last shreds of their tattered prestige can snap off the gawk-box masterpiece and declare smugly, "Yup, these playwrights certainly are calling 'em as they see 'em these days. Real slice-of-life writing."

The spiritual heirs of Lucretia Borgia don't have any comeback. They know in their hearts that Lucretia, Salome and the rest of the gang have more than balanced accounts with the opposite sex when it was a matter of sly deviltry.

Peace is being restored to American homes. Once more, the man of the family can look forward to an evening at home with sense of equanimity. He may be the local representative of a sex noted for its clownishness, stupidity, narrowness and viciousness. But he is not alone.

He can always wait for the next program — the one about the modern Xanthippe who drove her husband into the streets, sent her children into galloping fits, tore up the neighborhood and caused a riot with her clattering tongue.

Daily Bible Thought

"Pray without ceasing." — 1 Thessalonians 5:17. We should always be in an attitude of harmony with the Infinite Father. We should also preserve an attitude of love toward all humanity. It would make a wonderful world if all followed that rule.

Khrushchev Preparing for 'Crisis'

By Igor Gouzenko

Igor Gouzenko is the Russian cipher clerk whose revelations of Soviet espionage in 1945 touched off an investigation which uncovered a Soviet spy ring in Canada.

MONTREAL, QUE.

The fall of Georgi Malenkov and the appointment of Nikolai Bulganin as new premier signifies a return to the old prewar subordination of the Soviet government to the Communist party.

In this sense, the Moscow events indicate not so much a rise to power by Bulganin as by Nikita Khrushchev, first secretary of the Communist party.

By nominating Bulganin, a man of much lesser stature than Malenkov, Khrushchev ended dualism in the top leadership of Russia.

Besides underlining the power of the party, the maneuver demonstrates to the West — or is intended to demonstrate — a new, more militant approach by Russia to world affairs.

The appointment of Marshal Gregori Zhukov in place of Bulganin as defense minister, would indicate that Soviet leaders considered war a matter of the day, an imminent probability.

And it foreshadows a new struggle for power among the Kremlin's top dogs.

As for Malenkov, it is clear that his main worry now is to stay alive.

It must be recalled that during Stalin's reign, particularly before the war, the government always played a subordinate role of the party in Soviet affairs.

THEN THE POSITION of chairman of the Council of Ministers was of no great importance. The position of party leadership was much more significant in the eyes of everybody, the people as well as the officialdom.

The post of premier is a high one in the eyes of the West because of Western tradition a premier has great importance. In appointing to this post a man who is unpopular and quite unimportant, Khrushchev is trying to establish the party as the undisputed master of the people and the government.

Bulganin does not have a good reputation among the people. His aloof manner and aristocratic appearance are bad assets in a poverty-stricken country. Bulganin has tried to cultivate the support of the army by playing his role in the old czarist tradition that was favored in the Soviet army during the war — uniform with epaulettes, goatee, the slightly foggy look of a slightly drunk general.

But he never quite won the army, because his appeal was only superficial. Other men, even if less dashing than he, were more brilliant and had a better war record.

With Malenkov as premier, the supreme authority of the party may have been questionable. Because he had behind him many years as a party functionary of the first class.

NOW, WITH BULGANIN as figurehead premier, few people will doubt who is the real master. Khrushchev, the head of the party, has strengthened the party's position and also increased his own authority and prestige.

It is very significant that in his statement of resignation, Malenkov several times stressed the importance of the Central Committee of the Communist party, and made it clear, beyond any shadow of doubt, that it was the Central Committee that made him resign.

This statement, obviously written under the close watch of Khrushchev if not actually dictated by him, is a striking demonstration of old-style dogma: The party is supreme, the party is pure and without reproach, anybody or anything can be blamed for failures in agriculture, heavy industry production, consumer goods shortages and what else may go wrong—but not the party.

Reaffirming of this dogma is the first significance of the event in Russia.

THE SECOND IMPORTANT feature is that Khrushchev selected for the post of premier the minister of defense, Bulganin, rather than some other man of secondary rank.

This is an obvious demonstration for the West. It is a direct answer to the Formosa situation, intended to show that the Soviet government is preparing for a crisis.

Any doubts of this intention must dissolve in the light of Malenkov's statement: Malenkov placed full guilt on himself for failing to manage Russia's agricultural policies and industry properly, for having no experience in local work.

In view of such an admission the logical man to replace him would be someone with experience in these fields. Yet Bulganin, of all people, was appointed . . . Bulganin, who for 10 years supervised the political morale of the party and had nothing to do with agriculture, heavy industry or consumer goods.

The contradiction is evident and the purpose of appointing the former minister of defense is obviously a diplomatic move. Khrushchev is now the most powerful man in Russia, but his stay in power will not be long. His advanced age is against him. Farsighted party men will not place all their stakes on him. If he dies soon, where would they be?

INDECISION AMONG his supporters can be expected to bring further clashes for power and these chlashes will become more violent as Khrushchev grows older.

The statement read for Malenkov at the Supreme Soviet made it clear that his position is precarious and so is his life. His declaration that he would perform in the most conscientious manner his duty and the functions which will be entrusted to him sounded like wishful thinking.

Malenkov would be content with anything but he is scared to death that the party and his "good friend" Khrushchev might want him to perform "in the most conscientious manner" the duty of confession his guilt at some future trial prior to his being dutifully shot and buried.

Catching Up With Fiction

By MARK DANA

Air-minded small boys, which of course means most lads, could have told inventors long ago about airplanes which could fly straight up, forward or backward, then hover in pleasant indecision.

Pseudo-science "comic" books have been quite casual about such devices. Now that the military services are announcing that such ultra-modern craft are off the designing boards and actually in the air being tested, there isn't much news splash in the ether, not even the stratosphere.

England has a freak "flying bedstead" which can go straight up or forward. Pictures of odd craft which rest on their tails, and swoop straight upward, then nose over into forward flight, have been widely published.

Yet aerial savants now are all in a lather about "convertibility." They are devising planes which can convert fully from vertical to horizontal flight, and vice versa, and in the process can hang still in space. Also, of course, in this jet age they want these planes to be powered with jets, not propellers or helicopter rotors.

The Transcendental Aircraft Corp., of Glen Riddle, Pa., has built a rotor-lifted "convertiplane," which shows "promise," and now Bell Aircraft is testing one whose jet engines can turn through a nearly 90-degree angle, for lifting the ship upward and then, by turning on shafts, set it forward—and all by jets.

The McDonnell Aircraft Copr. is toying with its own craft with a rotor for upward takeoff and with propellors for straight flight. What the designers are doing with guided missiles—planes minus pilots which, so 'tis said, can track down an enemy plane in the skies merely by recording its number on the fuselage, is anybody's guess.

The fanciful neo-science writers seem to be caught up with by realities.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Wild game provided the Indian and the pioneer of Marion County an abundance of wholesome wild meats and in great variety, as well as an interesting variety of useless or mischievious animals. According to the rule the world over, the larger animals disappeared first before the advancing tread of human occupation and then the next in size and so on down to the raccoon, opossum, etc., which still exist, although in diminishing numbers.

Target Practice

"To perform work equal to that of a mole," says a nature note, "a man would have to dig a tunnel 37 miles long in a single night." But even if his wife was that strict, where would he want to go that bad?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

This Dizzy World

Premier Malenkov's resignation in which he confesses inability to carry out the Russian farm program marks the first time a Russian leader has quit on the grounds he didn't know his vegetables. . . It would seem to block any immediate claim that under him Moscow invented the baked Idaho potato.

It still baffles us, since he had never pretended to be the Man With the Hoe. . . Or posed, playing "Turkey In the Hay" on a fiddle while calling square dances. . . But if the failure in agriculture is behind the switch, it is pretty hard to think of his successor as "Old MacDonald Had A Farm" Bulganin. . . Marshal Bulganin has never been photographed with a pitchfork or rake and the nearest thing to farm products in his career have been "pineapples."

But turning to another subject:

General Motors in its new 326 million dollar stock issue will "let" you buy one share for every 20 you hold for $75, and since this is a lot higher than the common stock has sold for over a 20-year-period, until the last few months, stockholders accustomed to the big splitups of the past are not viewing it as the de luxe model split. To the one-for-twenty-at-$75 there are some cries of "Put on the windshield wiper; I can't see ahead clearly."

"It seems to me they are putting power brakes on generosity," declared Elmer Twitchel today. "It ain't much more exciting to me than if Detroit put another knob on the instrument board."

"What do you want, a glamor certificate with white walls and in a choice of three or more color combinations?" we asked.

"It could be a good idea," he replied. "In fact on a one-for-twenty divvy I would like to have at least four colors. Smart styling on the seventy-five dollar certificate would make me feel better, the more so since I am a small stockholder, in fact, I am a sort of midget-model, with just twenty shares—and on the installment plan, too!"

"But if G.M. continues to go up, the seventy-five dollar price on the new common could seem like a giveaway in time," we suggested.

"But this market is the highest in years and if it should bust wide open I would feel better if I got a set of bumpers with the certificates, something I could clamp over me, front and rear, when figuring out where I stand," said Elmer.

"How are you fixed for shock absorbers?" we asked.

"If I grab my extra share of stock for seventy-five dollars and am suddenly hit in the rear by a market slump and in the front by the coming Senate investigation, I could use both," declared Elmer, who is far from the daring type investor. "I can't quite make out whether this one-for-twenty splitup reflects G.M. supreme confidence or just a willingness to put the wraparound windshield on its financing plans."

"Do you remember away back when stocks were split two or three for one and you were asked to put nothing into the kitty?" we asked.

"A split was a split in the old days," said Elmer. "The fellow who calls these one-for-twenty splits a split is a poor judge of distribution."

"You looked for something a little more exciting, colorful, speedy and sleek-looking in a stock issue," we suggested. "You rather expected something more decorative and gleaming."

"I guess that's it," admitted Elmer. "Somehow these new shares seem to my eye to come under that motor world heading of optional equipment."

President Eisenhower has been voted the man who did most for golf in 1954. . . He's the only golfer who staged his own TV show and got coverage from all correspondents. Ike's quite a golfer, at that. . . He drove from the English Channel to the Rhine to the Potomac. (First in war, first in peace and first in the locker room with a broad smile and no alibis.)

Parker Fennelly, one of the really great characters on the old Fred Allen shows, does a fine job in the new Broadway play "The Southwest Corner."

English Archbishop Backs Ban On Wedding Divorced Persons

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of churchmen differed today over the Church of England s ban on conducting weddings for divorced persons

The archbishop Dr Geoffrey Fisher, said in an official pamphlet yesterday the ban was necessary to make couples think more seriously before marriage D R Fisher is the British state church s No 1 official.

Dissenting clergymen promptly answered with a statement asserting the pamphlet did not prove that second marriages are necessarily sinful or fall short of the Christian ideal and therefore the church should change its stand

The archbishop said the church's duty is to give guidance to the divorced so they may be restored to its sacramental life

'But that does not mean" he added that the church should remarry them That would be asking the church to compromise the one way in which it can give clear testimony to our Lord's standard for their sakes . . "

Dr Fisher admitted that in some cases second marriages have been "abundantly blessed"

'For this reason," he added, "I do not find myself able to forbid good people who come to me for advice to embark on a second marriage . If they remarry, they will never again be able to bear a full clear witness to Our Lord's declaration of what marriage is . . They must decide whether this lasting spiritual loss is in their judgment outweighed by a call of God to seek spiritual gain in a second marriage '

Opposition Grows In South Africa on Segregation Move

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A call went out today to Johannesburg's Negro thousands to strike against the government s latest segregation scheme The appeals chances of success appeared problematical

The African National Congress dispatched runners to the city's slums calling nonwhites off their jobs tomorrow or Monday The strikes were called to protest the government s forced movement of Negroes from their homes in west Johannesburg to selected nonwhite areas outside the city

More than 100 families were evicted Wednesday with some 60 000 persons in all to be moved in the next seven years

A successful strike could paralyze Johannesburg whose Negro population does most of the work in factories shops and homes But South Africa's racial laws provide heavy penalties including the lash for Negroes found guilty of striking

The walkout also was expected to have little or no effect on the 350 000 nonwhites working the area s mines This labor force is restricted to compounds from which outsiders are barred

Beer Stolen in Break-In At Distributing Concern

Theft of five cases of beer in a break-in at the Bud Doyle Distributing Co. at 267 Davids St. was reported to police Thursday.

Doyle called police at 9:42 a.m. yesterday and reported the building was apparently broken into sometime Wednesday night.

Police investigated and found that boards were torn from a side window and the glass broken out to gain entrance. They said there were no fresh tracks in the snow indicating the break-in occurred sometime previous to Wednesday night.

Value of the beer stolen was about $13, Doyle said.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved irregularly higher today following two strong sessions in which new all-time high peaks were established.

The higher trend was established at the opening, but by early afternoon there were enough minus signs in the list to create a slightly irregular pattern.

Gains went to around 3 points at the outside while losses usually were held below a point.

Business was at a subdued pace as prices receded from their best. Yesterday's total was 3,460,000 shares with the market strong.

Here's the way major groups appeared:

Steels mixed, motors lower, rubbers mixed, aircrafts mixed, radio-televisions higher, utilities higher, coppers lower, chemicals higher, railroads higher, oils higher, airlines lower, motion pictures mixed.

Abraham Lincoln

By George Sokolsky

As the years roll in the saga of America, Abraham Lincoln grows in stature not because he was assassinated, nor even because he was President during our Civil War, but because he was a philosopher, a moralist, a rare figure among those who rise in our political system.

SOKOLSKY

The American president has usually been a politician, not a statesman; an operator of the techniques of manipulating the people's choice, not a thinker who leads his followers into the lofty realms of moral philosophy. Too often his speech has been of the earth rather than inspired by revelation. How many of them could have thought, much less put into rhetoric, the grandeur of the Second Inaugural:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphan — to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN thought lyrically and his poetry was sunshine in a dark moment of national history. He required no ghostwriter. He was not briefed by researchers. He called no conferences to decide what he was to think and say. His artistry came from his consciousness, and to it, no man could add or detract. A man who could compose the "Gettysburg Address" is unusual among our politicians who generally submit their major thoughts to associates for criticism, the associates taking out of it everything that is of sufficient potency to produce controversy.

Lincoln was never afraid of controversy. In fact, he started his national career as a controversialist, debating the little giant, Stephen Douglas, no mean man.

The Lincoln-Douglas debates stirred a generation by the deftness of logic, by the fullness of the knowledge of both debaters and by the courageous stance of each man on a public question.

There was no pussy-footing in anything that Lincoln did and said, as the popular Seward discovered to his discomfiture.

What a wonderful thing it would be in this age of television if two candidates for the presidency — say Eisenhower and Stevenson in 1952 — could have debated the issues before the nation, face to face, with questions and answers and interpolations.

Perhaps the nation might have discovered that the egg-heads are really behind the scenes. It might be like the speaker with "the perfect voice" who squeaks through a few paragraphs when the microphone has suddenly and for no just cause gone dead.

LINCOLN LIVES for us not so much in deeds as in ideas. "I intend no modification of my oft-expressed personal wish that all men everywhere could be free." "What is conservatism? Is it not adherence to the old and tried, against the new and untried?" Replying to the South Carolina commissioners, he said: "As President, I have no eyes but constitutional eyes; I cannot see you."

One can pick and choose nuggets of thought, wisely and literately spoken, courageously phrased with no idea of advantage.

Such men do not often appear in any country; they have rarely appeared in ours since that magnificent group of philosophers sat in Independence Hall to adopt the Declaration of Independence and later to write the Constitution. Lincoln might have been of that galaxy had he been born earlier; he was of their succession. He was a sad man, as the philosopher must be.

JOHN STUART MILL said, "Ask yourself whether you are happy, and you cease to be so." Lincoln probably never asked himself such a question. He was born and reared in a world of contention and quarrel that ended in war and in his assassination.

Our people in these days pray for the inspiration of a national ideal. We live in a period of excitement, of action, of motion, but we are a sad people because we are not at peace with ourselves or with the world. We need the wisdom of a great mind and the leadership of one who walks with God.

We again need the gentle hand of Abraham Lincoln who could be firm in the right without permitting himself the wickedness of hate.

Porterfield Reviews Work

Ohio Receiving Hospitals Successful, Report Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Thousands of persons who might have been committed to Ohio's mental hospitals have been treated at receiving hospitals and returned in a matter of weeks to a normal, happy life.

This was announced today by the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction in a report evaluating the first 10 years of Ohio's receiving hospital program.

The report said receiving hospitals, pioneered by Ohio during the past decade, are designed specifically for prompt and intensive treatment of persons whose mental illness is in an early stage.

May Enter Voluntarily

Such persons may enter those hospitals voluntarily, on the advice of their physician, without necessity of commitment as required in the case of the prolonged-care mental hospitals.

The department's philosophy on receiving hospitals is that mental illness can be treated on a basis similar to the treatment of physical illness in a general hospital.

Ohio's first such hospital opened at Youngstown in 1945, the same year the Legislature set up the state's receiving hospital program.

Since then, receiving hospitals or units have been opened at Cleveland, Dayton, Athens, Cuyahoga Falls, Toledo, Columbus, Portsmouth and Cincinnati, the report said.

In a forward to the report, Dr John D. Porterfield, director of the department, said "there are few who question the soundness of this forward move in the state's mental health program."

Fear Permanent Action

He said commitment to a prolonged care mental hospital has always seemed such a final move that it has been a constant difficulty to convince families and guardians to seek treatment.

"The receiving hospital system has resolved these obstacles and it is now possible for an individual to seek voluntary admission for study and help and for a family to seek help for an afflicted member without excessive red tape," the director said.

He said those who receive benefits of receiving hospital services are not automatically guaranteed they will never be committed.

"But this has been averted for many and delayed for considerable lengths of time for others," Porterfield said.

The director indicated there were still many difficulties which keep receiving hospitals from operating at the best possible efficiency.

He said it would be desirable if such a facility could be made available in every major population center in the state.

According to Porterfield, rural persons do not yet seem as anxious to make use of these services as those in metropolitan areas.

Pupils Must Go Back to School, Judge Warns

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Parents of Negro children kept out of school because of a zoning dispute may face charges of contributing to the delinquency of their children.

Juvenile Judge Orland Roades notified parents yesterday they must abide by the Hillsboro school board's zoning regulation and send their children to the all-Negro Lincoln Elementary School. From 25 to 30 pupils are affected.

The children were kept at home after the school board adopted zoning regulations which required most Negro children to attend classes in the Lincoln building. A few, however, were assigned to the former all-white Webster and Washington schools.

Some Negro parents said the zones were set up on a racial basis, but the school board insisted it was based on residence.

Five mothers filed a suit in U. S. District Court to restrain enforcement of the zoning regulation. U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel recently upheld the school board at a hearing in Cincinnati.

The school board has declared its intentions of abandoning the Lincoln building and having integrated classes at all grades.

Junior and senior high school classes have been mixed racially for some time.

Strike Signal

By Victor Riesel

The Communist underground in this country has no doubt of the meaning of the Bulganin-Khrushchev seizure of power in the Kremlin. The shift from Malenkov means shifting into high gear on the espionage, and strike fronts in the U.S. as well as across the world.

VICTOR RIESEL

This is certain. The line calling for less propaganda and more paralysis in the Western world was laid down in a four-hour, 67-page speech droned through by world Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev. He unburdened himself of this "report" to the plenum of the Central Committee of the Communist party of the Soviet Union on Jan 25—taking most of the morning to do it.

No one stirred during the plenum session. You're dead if you move. Especially since Khrushchev hurled out some very dirty words in this talk — words rattling with the overtones of death to the opposition.

THE WORDS CAME early, within the first 10 minutes. Nikita spoke of "right-wing deviation" on the part of some of his colleagues.

Nikita then said this reminded him of the views of Rykov and Bukharin. Right away Georgi Malenkov, who sat obediently silent, must have known he was finished —because Rykov and Bukharin were among the first to be trotted out back in the mid-thirties to confess that they were low right-wing beasts indeed and deserved to get bullets in the back of the neck. Which, of course, they did get.

In the language of the Russian new-world-makers, "right-wing deviation" meant "Some of you are going too soft, too conservative, comrades. The only thing left for you to do is to die because we're going revolutionary again."

Then orders flashed throughout the world for a speedup of sabotage and riotous strikes.

That word went out in the past few weeks. In England, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, France, Italy and wherever the party is active on waterfronts, there will be demonstrations against the shipment of arms to troops abroad. There will be port strikes, if possible. There will be sabotage, fires, violence and extremist demands on employers.

IN THE U.S. the Communist party is not sufficiently powerful to paralyze us. But it is active in Pennsylvania electronic plants. It is deep inside the Ford plant at River Rouge. It is in the heart of the Chicago meat packing industry. It can cripple, or sabotage, metal mining. It can stall shipping.

However, the American Communists must be cautious. The party's leaders know that the FBI has infiltrated their high command. The Comintern rep (representative) in charge of Soviet activities in the U.S. knows that he must move carefully. So the party's orders to its people are to use legitimate strike situations and routine labor-management disputes as the areas in which to stir trouble.

This means that the Communists must race to get their people planted inside the AFL and CIO—something which is giving George Meany a terrific headache now and which accounts, in part, for the strain he has been showing these days at the AFL executive council session in Miami Beach.

The Communists already have infiltrated legitimate unions in some strategic areas. They now await the coming strike-crisis season. Hundreds of labor contracts expire in the next few months. These cover millions of workers in the auto, aircraft, machine, steel, communications and food industries, to mention a few.

JUST TO PINPOINT one area where you can watch the Commie undercover apparatus operate—keep your eye on Ford's River Rouge plant. Especially on the Motor Building. Deep in the thousands working there is one of the Communists' most powerful cells.

It is waiting for the CIO Auto Workers Union contract with Ford to expire at the end of May. Walter Reuther will then demand the guaranteed annual wage.

At that time the Communist cell in that plant, in that building, will open up behind Reuther's back. It will scream for a showdown with all industry. It will demand unconditional surrender. It will call for demonstrations. It will set the pattern for Communist cells everywhere.

It will reflect the change in Moscow. For as Bulganin, the electrical and heavy industry construction expert, pushes for tough production in Russia, the Comintern everywhere will try to slash heavy production in the Western world. And we're still part of it.

Fourth Columbus Area School Gets Bomb Scare Call

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) Bomb scares in the past week have unsettled four schools in the Columbus area. The latest false alarm yesterday emptied nearby Marion-Franklin High School.

Some 900 students were evacuated and sent home for the afternoon after an anonymous caller warned a bomb was planted in the building. Marion Township officials searched the building but found no bomb.

Earlier yesterday, another anonymous call touched off a bomb scare at Champion Junion High School but the school was not evacuated. Fire and police department emergency equipment stood by.

Last Monday Central High School's 1,550 students were ordered from the school until half an hour past a deadline set by a caller who warned a bomb was set to explode.

Columbus South High students were sent home Last Friday before noon in the first school bomb report. A search failed to find any explosives.

Easing the Pressure

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — Curbstone comments by a Pavement Plato:

Are the strains of modern life beginning to affect even women?

HAL BOYLE

It would seem they are, particularly with career girls. The iron nerves of housewives are still holding up well, perhaps because they dress more sensibly and can lie down and relax in between the times they are prodding their husbands up the ladder of success.

But the career girl—Horatio Alger's mythical granddaughter, Hortense—often finds her life in the business world keeps her in endless tension.

Some signs that this is true:

Women used to marry ulcers. Now they're getting more and more ulcers themselves.

BARTENDERS report that more and more secretaries and stenographers are having cocktails at lunch to bolster them up for a long hard afternoon of trying to make the boss look like he knows his job.

If you stand on a mid-Manhattan street corner and watch the glamour girls of business go by, you will notice that about one out of every ten of these trim beauties is nervously gnawing her lip, twisting her lovely face all out of shape over some inner worry.

Why?

My theory is that career girls are caught between a man's world and a woman's world. They are doing a man's work all day while dressed up as if they were a movie star on her way to launch a battleship. They are as uncomfortable as a plumber trying to fix a drain-pipe while clad in a straitjacket.

NO WONDER they sometimes are cranky and moody, get easily upset over trifles, or miss out on a promotion because they bawl out their employer instead of buttering him up. They are suffering from a new career girl's disease — clothing claustrophobia. It's their clothing—not the boss—that pinches them.

Nobody can do a good job when he has a cramped feeling. Career girls should take a hint from their married sisters. When a housewife sets out to clean up her lair, she puts on a pair of old loose-fitting slacks, the shirt her husband wore the day before and a pair of floppy slippers that go flap-flap-flap as she flop-flop-flops around looking for more dirt to annoy.

This is the working uniform of most American housewives today. Good thing, too. It enables them to avoid the anatomical imprisonment suffered by the more fashionably dressed career girls. Their carefree clothing allows their bodies to slump into those restful, bulging, lumpy—and, of course, graceful—patterns natural to womankind when they are not a-prowl for their prey, man.

A CAREER GIRL, I realize, can't go as far in the direction of informal dress as a housewife. An office manager might frown on her if she showed up wearing cowboy pants and a shirt borrowed from her boy friend, and with her hair tied in a frayed dish towel.

But since it is well known that too-tight clothing inflames the temper and reduces mental efficiency, a girl ought to do something about her present ulcer-manufacturing office garb. A recent scientific study—I just made it—shows that the two key areas where constriction brings out the raging lioness most in a woman are—the waist and the feet.

So any career girl will find it easier to concentrate on winning fame and fortune in her work, if she'll just follow these two tips:

"Either throw away your girdle, or get one so comfortable you can put it on with one hand tied behind you—this I'd like to see—and buy shoes at least one size, and preferably two, larger than the ones you're wearing."

You'll be amazed, Hortense Alger, to see how these two steps will take the pressure off your mind, cut down your nervous irritability. Even if you don't land a bigger job, you'll feel so gay and sweet-dispositioned the guys in the office will be standing in line to marry you.

Let the one who wins you worry about business ulcers. You can stay home and be really comfortable in those floppy slippers that go flap-flap-flap.

Witness Claims Man Suggested Trip to Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Marie Natvig contends a man called "Dr. Rez or Dr. Riz" suggested she go to Mexico after she testified that publisher - broadcaster Edward Lamb was once a Communist sympathizer.

The 51-year-old, silver haired grandmother—who now swears her statements against Lamb were falsehoods forced on her by communications commission attorneys—claims the Mexican trip was proposed Oct. 29.

The "doctor," she told the commission's hearing into Lamb's background yesterday, met her on her doorstep in Miami Beach, Fla., on her return from Washington.

"He told me," she testified, "that I would have only two courses of action—to go back and retract my testimony because the Communists didn't like people who turned informer, or he would arrange my transportation to Mexico."

Mrs. Natvig was to return to the Lamb hearing today for the third day on the stand.

The investigation is being conducted to determine the truth of allegations that Lamb—a Toledo, Ohio lawyer, who publishes the Erie (Pa.) Dispatch and owns radio and TV stations—once associated with Communists.

Lamb, who is seeking to renew the license of his TV station at Erie, WICU, flatly denies the allegations and says commission attorneys induced witnesses to testify falsely against him.

Education Board In LaRue Requests Railroad Warnings

LaRue's Board of Education will ask that warning signal gates be installed at the New York Central Railroad crossing, west of the village.

Board members during their regular meeting Thursday night, voted to write to the New York Central Co., requesting the signals be erected at the Lennox crossing, west of LaRue, where several serious traffic accidents have occurred within the past few years. The move was suggested by the LaRue American Legion post which asked the school board to take the first action since the school buses pass over the crossing.

The board also decided to request an advance draw on funds from the county auditor to meet current expenses. Routine bills were read and ordered paid.

Newly elected officers of the board presided for the Thursday night session. They are: Rowland McElheny, president; Russell Hardin, vice president; Mrs. Mary Dutton, clerk-treasurer. Sserving on the bus committee are Dr. J. E. Fox and Dr. R. A. Dietrich and on the building and grounds committee, Hardin and Delbert Greenwood.

Four of the board members, Hardin, Dr. Fox, Dr. Dietrich and Greenwood, and superintendent of met yesterday afternoon in Bowling Green with a representative of Strong, Strong and Strong, Lima architects, to inspect a school building which is similar to the elementary school which will be constructed in LaRue. A $367,000 bond issue for construction of the new school was approved by voters in the Nov. 2 election.

Proper Teaching Important

Key to Dental Health Is Instilling of Good Habits

Dentists agree that the most effective approach to the nation's dental disease problem lies in instilling the right kind of dental health habits in children early in life and in making available to them sound preventive measures.

To this end, the nation this week is focusing attention to the dental health problem during National Children's Dental Health Week, now concluding. In Marion the week is being sponsored by the Marion Dental Academy.

RESEARCH SHOWS that if a child follows the usual pattern, he may well be a dental cripple by the time he is in his 40's. There is little or no excuse for this prospect, the dental profession says. But the fact is, according to recent studies, that the average individual by the time he is 41 is likely to have 19 missing, decayed or filled teeth.

The responsibility for seeing that children have opportunity to develop sound dental health habits lies with parents and teachers and others concerned with their welfare, dentists say.

They add that a child's first visit to a dentist should come when all his first teeth have appeared, usually between the ages of two and three.

THE DENTIST can show the child around the office, explain the equipment and initiate him in the ritual of toothbrushing. Dentists say that parents play a significant role in this inititaion. Whether a child makes a friend or an ogre of the dentist depends largely on the parents as they talk about the experience beforehand.

Basic rules for sound dental health for children are summed up by dentists in these four points:

A balanced nutritious diet low in sweets.

Proper use of the toothbrush immediately after eating.

Early detection and treatment of dental ills to prevent more serious disease later.

Routine consumption of fluoridated water or, in its absence, the application of fluoride periodically to the child's teeth.

Positions Open For Civilians in Army Overseas

The Chicago representative of the Army's Overseas Division, Office of Civilian Personnel, announced today that there are at present substantially more job opportunities with the Army overseas than at any time during the last three years. This is attributed to an increase in the number of replacements for employes who return after completing their tours of duty. It is not basically the result of a change in policy nor an increase in the number of jobs for U. S. citizens abroad.

There is an ever increasing demand for alert, capable, loyal civilians to replace those who return home at the completion of their overseas tour of duty. At this time applications on hand of qualified applicants are not sufficient to fill the needs overseas.

Men and women with an urge to travel may find positions as court reporters.

Auditors with CPA experience, Army trained personnel technicians, organization and methods examiners and labor economists are also needed.

Most of these positions are located in Japan, Okinawa, Korea and Europe.

Stenographers are urgently needed for Japan and Europe.

Living quarters as well as transportation to and from the command are furnished at no cost to the employe. The salaries range from $2,950 to $10,800 per year. Alaska and Korea allow 25 per cent extra pay.

The tour of duty is from one to two years, depending upon the area. Dependents are not permitted to accompany the employe due to lack of family quarters but may follow later to some areas. Single women without dependents are considered. Age qualifications in most cases are from a minimum of 21 to a maximum of 55 for men and 50 for women.

For more information or to make application write Department of Army, Overseas Affairs Division, 1660 E. Hyde Park Blvd., Chicago 15, Illinois.

Sales Tax Receipts Up $10,000 in City

Sales tax receipts in Marion County showed an increase of over $10,000 for the week ending Jan. 29 compared with the same week last year, Roger W. Tracy, state treasurer announced today.

Collections here amounted to $26,327.90 for the week compared with only $15,957.49 for the same week in 1954. Collections over the state jumped to $2,841,356 from $2,810,894 for the same week last year.

Increases were also noted in Crawford, Delaware, Hardin, Morrow and Wyandot Counties. A slight drop was recorded in Union County.

Authorities Report 4 Accidents Here

Two minor accidents were investigated by state highway patrolmen Thursday. No one was injured. City police also reported two minor accidents with damage under $100.

At 6:30 a. m., the radio antenna and a mirror on a car driven by Alfred F. Easterday of near Cardington were damaged slightly when a tarpaulin rope from a truck driven by Robert Ernest of Sandusky, became unfastened and struck the car accessories.

The accident occured on Route 95 about one and one-half miles west of the Morrow County line.

At 11 a. m., a car driven by E. U. Pace of Caledonia left the road after it struck a broken tree limb on the highway on Route 30-S about one and one-half miles east of Marion. Neither Pace nor his wife, who was a passenger, was injured.

Soil Conservation Supervisors Make Plans for Program

Following a pancake and sausage dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Retterer of 233 Elm St., the monthly meeting of the Marion County Soil Conservation District was held Thursday night.

Further plans were discussed for a silage tour to be held next Thursday at which Dr. Charles F. Rogers of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster will explain the silage program at the station. Plans were also made for attending the silage show to be held in Morrow County Feb. 21.

An invitation to hold a joint meeting of supervisors with the Wyandot County Soil Conservation District in August was accepted by the local supervisors.

Jan. 5, 1956 was set as the tentative date for the next annual meeting of the local district. Plans for the National Grange essay contest were also discussed. Rules may be obtained from the county agent, vocational agriculture instructors and soil conservation personnel in the county.

The contest is open to all persons in the county under 21.

Initial conservation work agreements were signed with three farmers with land totalling 272 acres. Latest to sign were Wallace Rengert of Waldo Township, A. L. Hursey of Pleasant Township and Floyd W. Mayes of Waldo Township.

Basic plans for the farms of Paul and Eugene Showers in Claridon Township and of Ralph V. Yaussy of Pleasant Township were approved.

similar to an assault and battery case involving only the principals, he continued.

Under Latta's proposal, telephone directories would display prominently the penalty for failure to yield a party line for bona fide emergencies.

The senator expressed belief that such an admonition would be taken seriously and have what he termed a beneficial effect.

Michigan, Washington and New York have similar laws and Indiana is considering such a statute. The law is advocated by the Council of State Governments, Latta reported.

He said the proposal stemmed from a series of serious situations resulting from telephone users "hogging" partly lines.

The fire chief of Delta, Fulton County, recently reported three such incidents there and an official of a phone company in Putnam County cited the need for a law with teeth, Latta said.

The Ohio Independent Telephone Assn. listed several disaster incidents involving party-line "hogs".

In November 1953, fire razed a home near Newark while a woman on a 10-party line refused to hang up so the fire department could be called.

Leaves Receiver off Hook

When told of the fire emergency, the woman was quoted as saying: "That's just too d— bad."

Reports said the woman left the phone without hanging up the receiver and the desperate fire victims could hear her walking around but could not use the line to summond aid.

Last March a similar situation was blamed for the virtual destruction of a home in Chillicothe.

Last Oct. 14 a home burned west of Mansfield while a party line user refused to hang up, delaying firemen from reaching the blaze.

Last Nov. 9 flames left a family of nine homeless after two women refused to end their long conversation so firefighters could be called.

Only last Jan. 26, Fire Chief James Barron of Delta said an 18-month-old girl died while being rushed four miles to his department for aid. Parents tried to summon help when the girl began to choke but were unable to get the operator because the line was busy, the chief reported.

Youth Knocks Down Woman

Assailant Runs Away On Arrival of Taxicab

A search for a youth who Thursday night molested a young Marion housewife as she walked along the street was under way today by city police.

The woman told police she was walking north along Leader St. near the railroad underpass about midnight when a young man came up behind her and grabbed her by the arm.

She said he asked where she was going and she told him she was going home. Seconds later a taxicab came along and she signaled it to stop.

At this, the youth struck her in the mouth, knocking her to the pavement.

Saying "You'd better get in," he ran away, she said.

The taxi driver, Leonard Mustard, took her home and later accompanied police on a tour of local restaurants and bars in a search for the youth. The woman said the youth apparently had been drinking. Police were unable to locate him.

Freedom Study Begun Here by Women Voters

A general review of Constitutional rights was featured in three unit meetings of the League of Women Voters Wednesday and Thursday as members and guests launched a study of freedom.

Resource information on the national agenda topic was gathered by a committee headed by Mrs. Doris C. Maxwell. No speaker was featured, but instead pertinent questions on the subject were posed as springboards for discussion.

In the discussion, members learned that included among main issues that have contributed to the Bill of Rights are the bill of attainder, taxation without representation, religous persecution, writ of habeas corpus, "John Doe" warrants, and objections to a free press.

In line with the dicussions on individual liberties, members discussed the difference between information and propaganda, and learned that the dividing line sometimes is very hazy.

Loyalty and security risks in government were discussed, leading to the conclusion that there is a need for considering backgrounds, time and circumstances regarding these risks. In recent history, the Fifth Amendment has been used as a cover-up instead of the right and protection it was intended to be, League members learned.

Discussions on freedom, one of the national agenda topics of the League this year, will be continued in future meetings.

The Wednesday morning and evening meetings were held in the YMCA, with Mrs. Dewey Yake and Mrs. Robert Kibbey as unit leaders. The Thursday evening meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Ben Salzman, 543 King Ave., with the hostess as unit leader.

Township in Crawford Starts Polio Fund Drive

BUCYRUS—A belated March of Dimes campaign got under way Thursday in Liberty Township, east of here, with John Striker, a merchant at nearby Sulphur Springs, acting as chairman.

Through an oversight, no chairman was named for the county-wide drive in Liberty Township and Striker said he would take over the job and receive contributions. Coin containers will be placed in business places in Sulphur Springs and elsewhere in the township.

No house-to-house canvass, such as was conducted last year, will be held this year, Striker said.

Trouble Seen in East Europe

'Guns Instead of Butter' Policy May Trip Soviets

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA (AP)—Russia is going to have trouble in East Europe by returning to its "guns instead of butter" policy, Western diplomats in Vienna believe.

These East European experts don't expect the fall of Georgi Malenkov to bring many changes in the leadership of the Soviet Satellites. One or two "front" men for the apparently outdated policy of more consumers goods may lose their jobs. But these diplomats think Russia will be just as happy to let "collective leadership"—on its way out at home—continue in the satellites as a barrier to any new Titos.

The big effect of the Moscow changes, the diplomats predict, is likely to be in the resistance of the 70 million people of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Opposition to the Communist regimes was strong before Stalin died and Malenkov announced his policy of more for the people. That "new look" policy undoubtedly lessened supressed resistance a little but there is still a great deal. Recent Iron Curtain travelers report continued bitterness and disillusionment.

With the new back-to-Stalin industrialization policy, Western diplomats expect resistance to increase again. Some observers expect it to be kept underground by a revival of the Stalin "big stick" terror policy.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's threat to join Russian and satellite armies under one command may have another purpose besides a military one: it could help to keep the restless East European masses under control, observers here point out.

Economic conditions behind the Iron Curtain are not at all good. Despite a year and a half of the "new look" and emphasis on agriculture, the Reds report immense shortages in food supplies. Nor has there been a great increase in consumer goods.

Adding to the Reds' problem, more consumer goods and less police pressure seem to have brought about an actual reduction—instead of the expected increase—in production of coal, electric power and the medium and heavy industries.

The chief change anticipated in the satellite leadership is predicted for Hungary. There, diplomatic sources believe, Premier Imre Nagy will resign publicly or quietly disappear. Hungarian Communist party boss Matyas Rakosi recently re-emerged from the background into which he had stepped after Stalin's death. In the interim he had made Nagy "front man" for the policy of more consumer goods.

Rakosi also announced, after a vacation in Moscow that Hungary would revive its program of heavy industrialization.

Otherwise, the top men are expected to remain in Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and Bulgaria, responsible now to Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev. The leaders of those satellites are all Stalin men, and "yes men" who have shown no Tito-like tendencies.

Formosa

miles to the south. It lies about 20 miles off the China mainland, 120 miles north of Formosa.

Determined To Hold

The Nationalists made clear today they intend to hold it, whether or not the United States helps.

Col. Hsiung En-teh, a Defense Ministry spokesman, called the defense of Nanchishan a "natural development" after the Tachen withdrawal. Did he expect U.S. air cover?

"That is up to the Americans," he told a news conference.

So far the Americans have kept official silence.

Unofficial reports have placed the Nationalist garrison there at 5,000 regular and guerrillas. There were indications that the Nationalists reinforced the island during the Tachens withdrawal.

The Reds hold no islands within shelling range of Nanchishan but there are some, unoccupied now.

Dispute Looms Over Defense Of Nanchishan

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nanchishan, an island 80 miles south of the abandoned Tachens and only 20 miles from the Red China mainland, rises as the next sour note in the U.S.-Nationalist defense duet.

The Nationalists now are calling it their northern shield for Formosa, 120 miles to the south.

"The Tachen withdrawal reels our front back 80 miles and that's enough," a Nationalist officer said.

Presumably the Nationalists are seeking U.S. guarantees to help defend Nanchishan. Washington appears downright balky.

The island was reported to have had a garrison of about 5,000 troops and guerrillas. It may be considerably stronger now.

Chinese craft began the evacuation of the Tachens Monday before the bulk of the U.S. 7th Fleet arrived in the area. Who were the people brought out and where were they taken?

It now appears they were highly trained guerrilla forces and they were quietly shuttled to Nanchishan.

Mix together Red China's drive to gather in the coastal islands, Chiang Kai-shek's determination to hold his last outposts and U.S. reluctance to guarantee the outposts and you have a volatile dish.

It could come to a quick boil around three square miles of real estate called Nanchishan.

Fighter Draws Fire

WITH U.S. 7TH FLEET, Tachen Waters (AP)—Communist guns fired at a U.S. carrier-based Banshee night fighter Wednesday night, a Navy briefing officer reported today.

The Banshee, from the Essex, was north of the Tachen Islands when a burst of antiaircraft fire exploded about a mile away. No fragments hit the plane.

who worked with Stalin from the days of the Russian Revolution.

Key Leaders

They include Bulganin, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, President Klementi Voroshilov, Lazar Kaganovich and A. I. Mikoyan. Mikoyan recently lost his Soviet government ministry but so far as known remains in the inner party circle.

There is some tendency among U.S. specialists to believe it was the Old Bolsheviks who got Malenkov. The assumption is they did not like his "soft" foreign policy line or his domestic policies which had failed to stimulate industrial and agricultural production.

Some government officials are convinced that the army is on the upgrade, that Eisenhower's one-time comrade in arms Georgi K. Zhukov, is the key military figure as minister of defense.

Other officials, including most of these who have spent a lot of time studying Russia, have decided there is no evidence of a real army upsurge. They say the Communist party controls the army at so many levels that the army is not actually an independent instrument of power.

AUTO DEFROSTER STOLEN

Theft of a windshield defroster fan from a Standard Oil Co. truck parked on Campbell St. was reported to police at 10:20 a.m. Thursday by the driver, William Baker.

Police To Hold Auction Sale of Stored Articles

Anyone for an auction sale?

Marion city police are asking this question today as they make preparations for an auction sale Saturday afternoon of unclaimed goods stored in the police property room at the old city hall.

Some of it is in good condition, some is not. Regardless of condition, each item will be sold to the highest bidder. Money collected from the sale is placed in the police pension and relief fund, Police Chief Thomas B. Coon said.

The sale will be held in a parking lot at the rear of the old city hall, in the Eagle's Building on W. Center St., beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday. Auctioneer Clyde Wilson will conduct the sale.

687 Memberships Received by YMCA

A total of 687 new or renewal memberships in the Marion YMCA were signed up during the recent drive, Art Haas, general secretary of the Y, reported today.

Drive leaders made their reports at a meeting Thursday night at the Y, but there are some still outstanding, Haas explained.

Of the 687 membership reported, 382 are adults and 305 youths. Adults obtaining the most members were Charles Kincaid, with 34, and Wayne Kuhn, with 18. New Political Party Forecast By Sen. Bender

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) said today there is "good reason to believe" that projected merger of the AFL and CIO marks "the birth of a political effort comparable to that which produced the British Labor party."

Bender praised the planned labor merger on another score. He said it should "definitely end costly jurisdictional disputes."

A member of the Senate Labor Committee, Bender disagreed with Henry G. Riter, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, who said the merger could lead to "dangerous monopoly" from an economic standpoint.

CIO President Walter Reuther said in an interview there was "no basis" for Riter's charge, and added:

"The people who now make that charge are the very same people who have always tried to block any kind of labor organization at a

Senators Ives (R-NY) and Douglas (D-Ill), both members of the Labor Committee, also said in separate interviews they found no basis for Riter's statement.

Bender said:

"This could be the biggest labor organization in the world and its influence for good could be unlimited. But by the same token, its potential influence for control of one or the other political parties is a factor to be reckoned with in American political history."

Florida Detective Stuck With Load of Cabbage

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Detective Sgt. J. W. Wingate, stuck with a truckload of cabbage, bought 700 pounds of ice to keep it from spoiling and hopes he gets his money back.

The owner of the truck, C. W. Benson, of Wilmington, N. C., telegraphed police yesterday that his driver phoned long distance saying he "mislaid" the truck and ran up a big taxi bill trying to find it.

Wingate found the truck and its perishable cargo where it had been parked on a side street since Wednesday. The detective bought the ice and hopes the substitute driver arrives before it melts—and with the money to repay him.

Please Guests With a Valentine Treat

Heart Cookies and Some Ice Cream Provide A Tasty Snack

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here come Cherry-Vanilla Ice Cream and Heart Cookies with which to charm your guests on Valentine's Day. You can buy the ice cream in prepackaged form in both pint and half-gallon sizes in supermarket or drug store. The cookies will be a labor of love—thin, crisp, butter-rich. Use the following recipe, rolling the cookies thin and decorating them with pink frosting. Serve these two sweets as an evening snack with assorted salted nuts and plenty of good strong hot coffee.

Make sure, before you try Heart Cookies, that you have a pastry cloth and a stockinet cover for your rolling pin. And remember that the time we've given in our recipe for refrigerating the dough is approximate. Refrigerator temperatures differ, so watch the dough to make sure it is neither too soft nor too hard to roll. Pay heed to us when we tell you to roll only a small amount of the cookie dough at one time — say enough for six cookies. And while you roll and cut out this small amount, keep the rest of the dough in the refrigerator.

You can serve the cherry-vanilla ice cream "as is" with the cookies, but if you are of a mind to treat it a fancier way, here are suggestions.

Perch scoops of the ice cream on squares of white cake or tuck them into cream puffs; top with butterscotch or caramel sauce.

Place scoops of the ice cream in the cavities of canned or home-baked pear halves.

Use the ice cream in old-fashioned Banana Splits. Remember how boy used to meet girl over one of those glorious concoctions at the corner drug store? How about reviving Banana Splits for this Valentine's Day? Make them by wedging three small scoops of cherry-vanilla ice cream between a banana that's been split in two lengthwise; pour over pineapple sauce, add a dollop of whipped cream and sprinkle with walnuts, pecans or toasted almonds!

VALENTINE TREAT. Cherry vanilla ice cream and heart cookies for evening party refreshments.

HEART COOKIES

Ingredients: 1¼ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter or margarine, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, ¾ teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter and sugar; mix in egg and vanilla. Add sifted dry ingredients and blend well. Form mixture into a ball. Press with hands to 1-3-inch thickness between two sheets of waxed paper. Place in refrigerator for about 3 hours or in freezing compartment for about 1 hour. Remove one-sixth of the dough at a time; keep remaining dough in refrigerator. Roll out ⅛-inch thick on lightly floured pastry cloth; cut out with a 2½-inch wide heart cookie cutter. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets about 1 inch apart in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 8 minutes or until lightly browned around edge. Remove with spatula to cooling rack. When cold decorate with Pink Ornamental Frosting around edges or with heart outlines in center or with mottoes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

PINK ORNAMENTAL FROSTING

Ingredients: 1¾ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 egg white, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, red food coloring.

Method: Sift together the confectioners' sugar and cream of tartar; add egg white and vanilla. Beat with a rotary beater (hand or electric) until frosting holds its shape. Place a damp cloth directly over frosting until ready to use. Stir in a few drops of the red food coloring. Use to decorate Cookies.

Exhibits at OWU Show Art Forms In Science Fields

DELAWARE—"De Naturalibus," an art exhibit in Ohio Wesleyan University's Memorial Union Building, shows art forms from the fields of geology, chemistry, physics, psychology and many others as well as the fine arts.

Prepared by Robert Vickers of the fine arts department with the cooperation of over a dozen other faculty members and non-Ohio Wesleyan organizations, the exhibit is made up in 11 sections, featuring man, mazes, water, structure, texture.

The main lobby portion of the exhibit alone clearly shows the diversity and unique quality of the complete presentation. There are "water creatures in plastic" from the zoologists and "magnesium structure" from the physicists.

In a section from the astronomy department there is a photograph of the great nebula in Orion and from the chemists, a three dimensionally mounted "atomic table." Psychology adds a "spinal column cast" and geology, "a quartz crystal."

This unusual exhibit will remain on view and open to the public for the month of February.

Trend Toward United Family Worship Hailed by Churchman

CINCINNATI (AP)—More and more families are worshipping together on Sundays instead of attending separate Sabbath services.

Dr. Randolph C. Miller of Yale Divinity School today called this increase the "most successful single development" in the church's program to provide a ministry to the needs of the family as a unit.

The unified service is "not an adult service at which children are tolerated, but rather one in which parents and children discover that they can share their common growth, common resources and common loyalties," he said.

The professor of Christian education spoke at the annual assembly of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches. More than 1,600 representatives of 39 cooperating Protestant, Angelican and Eastern Orthodox Communions are attending sessions.

Dr. Miller said unified services usually last about 35 minutes and then are followed by classes according to age groups.

A trend in Sunday school education, he said, is the use of husband and wife teams as teachers.

"Both theologically and psychologically, this is a sound development," he said. "It may also help to overcome the distaste that many boys have for a feminine-flavored religion."

Gunsmith's Testimony Heard at Murder Trial

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Defense witnesses today continue testimony in the first degree murder trial of Jack Southward, 24.

Ottice Stookey, a gunsmith, yesterday opened the defense case, testifying the shotgun shell which fatally wounded Southward's wife, Ruth, 23, had fired when the gun was snapped shut, not by a trigger-released hammer.

Mrs. Southward died last Sept. 10 in a Columbus hospital, two days after the shooting. Southward contends the shooting was an accident.

The prosecution rested its case yesterday.

Inherits 2 Elephants

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Wesley C. Richards, 29, a bartender, was wondering today what to do with two elephants he said an uncle, W. C. Richards, a Pensacola, Fla., animal importer, had left him in his will. Richards said property worth several hundred thousand dollars had been left to his brother but "I guess my uncle didn't like me much."

Harding and Irish Go Into Cage Tilts as Underdogs

Prexies Travel to Fostoria; St. Mary Finishes at Home

Harding and St. Mary will be underdogs as they take the basketball courts tonight in quest of revenge.

The Prexies travel to Fostoria where they seek their fifth victory of the season while St. Mary takes on an invading Fredericktown crew at the Harding gym in its season finale. Harding steps into action again Saturday night by entertaining Newark in its first home appearance in over two weeks.

Coach Jim Lawler's Presidents, 4-11 for the year, bowed to Fostoria 79-63 in a previous season meeting and will be out to snap a four-game losing streak.

St. Mary's Irish are attempting to wind up their campaign at 14-6 with their fifth straight verdict. A win would give Coach Ray Robbins' squad its best regular season mark in three seasons. The rugged Fredericktown squad brings a 17-1 mark here and will be seeking to repeat last season's 73-54 triumph over the Irish.

PROBABLE STARING lineup for Fostoria will have Bill Neikirk and Tony Nixon at forwards, Chuck Jackson at center, and Jim McClung and Bob Shaw at guards.

The Redmen have no height but make up for it with spring and a well balanced attack. Niekirk pumped in 27 points to pace Fostoria's red hot attack against the Prexies when they met earlier in the season. Shaw with 19, Nixon with 16 and Jackson with 11 gave him strong support.

Fredericktown, St. Mary's opponent, will likely go with Gary Rine, 5-10 junior, and Bill Frazier, 5-11 junior, at forwards; Barth Yost, 5-11 junior, at center; and Paul Seymour, 5-10 junior, and Dan Hines, 5-10 senior, at guards.

Frazier and Rine are Fredericktown's big guns with 310 points each to date. Seymour has 252, Hines 126, Yost 103 and Bill Braddock, 6-1 senior center, 93.

THE KNOX COUNTY squad is fresh from a 68-61 victory over Mount Gilead Tuesday night. St. Mary bowed twice to the rugged Indians. Fredericktown also shows wins over Cardington 66-46, and Elm Valley 82-67, a pair of squads which St. Mary also defeated but not as decisively. The lone loss on Fredericktown's schedule came at the hands of Chesterville 63-60.

Newark will take a 9-7 mark against Harding Saturday night. The former state champs currently hold down second spot in the Central Ohio League with an 8-3 record. Chuck Monnett has been Newark's big gun in recent games. He has hit for 20 or more points in Newark's past four starts.

Rockets, Toledo Duel Sunday at Coliseum Rink

The Grand Rapids Rockets and the Toledo Mercurys, the two hottest clubs in the International Hockey League playoff race, will meet in an exhibition game this Sunday afternoon at the Marion Coliseum at 3 p m

With the Mercs will be the "Baron Line" of Gordon Vejprava, Gerry Prince and Hal Jones, all ex-Marion hockey players of last season, who are currently the top line for Toledo. Two ex-Marion 'icers with the Rockets are Lou Crowdis in goal and Joe Ingoldsby at right wing.

In the last meeting at the Coliseum the Rockets downed the Mercs 8-1 after losing to them the night before in regular league play. Goalie Crowdis was outstanding in his defensive play robbing Vejprava of several goals before the speedy center finally scored on one of his rushes. Lou takes special pride these days in stopping his old team mates from scoring.

This will be the next to last game in the exhibition series. The final game will be Tuesday March 1 when the American League playoff champion Cleveland Barons face the Troy Bruins.

Sponsoring this Sunday's game are the Bucyrus VFW, the Upper Sandusky VFW and the Shelby Jay-Cees.

Stevens Stops Bull Montana In Mat Event

Ray Stevens was winner of last night's main event at the Coliseum when he stopped Bull Montana in two falls.

Stevens won the first fall after 15 minutes with a spinning step-over toe hold. The second fall was won by Montana in six minutes but he was disqualified by wrestling commissioners for unnecessary roughness and the verdict went to Stevens.

The team of Juanita Koffman and Betty Hawkins won the tag team match over LaChona LaClaire and Betsy Ross substituting for Mae Weston. The winners took the first falls when Koffman pinned Ross with a press in nine minutes. The second fall went three minutes with LaClaire getting Hawkins with a slam and press. The deciding fall came after six minutes when Koffman pinned LaClaire with a cradle hold.

Ricky Waldo took the 30-minute opener with a slam and press over Frency Roy.

Young Stars Set Pace for Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Youth dominates the $10,000 Tucson Open Golf Tourney as it moves through the second round today.

Name players yesterday had to be satisfied with supplying minor fireworks, such as heaving clubs and bawling out a photographer.

Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, and Tony Holguin, Midlothian, Ill., a couple of 28-year-olds, share the lead. Each had 5-under-par 65s for the 6,409-yard, par-70 El Rio course in the first round.

George Bayer, 240-pound giant from Glen Head, N.Y., and Bud Holscher, 24, Santa Monica, Calif., are a stroke behind with first-round 66s.

Rosburg didn't know whether he would be well enough to stagger around the course. Flu had kept him in bed and prevented him from eating for two days. Wednesday he had a temperature above 100.

"Somehow I feel better," he said after his round. "I think the temperature is down."

Bayer is supposed to be the longest hitter in golf, and got off a couple of tee shots that traveled well over 300 yards. But driving honors for the day went to Rosburg. His drive rolled on the green of the 349-yard 17th hole. Two putts provided a birdie three.

Tommy Bolt, Houston, Tex., missed a 12-foot putt on the 11th and snapped at a photographer. "That's a fine place to stand," he said. "You know I throw clubs."

When Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N.C. was unhappy with his approach on the 16th he threw his iron a couple of yards farther than the ball.

On the same hole Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., sent his club skimming through the air when he missed a three-foot putt for a birdie 3.

Boros finishd with 69, Clark 71 and Hunt 75.

Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., showed the biggest gallery a lot of wild, erratic golf. Fine putting helped him finish with 71.

TO SIGN WITH 'SKINS

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Notre Dame's All - America quarterback Ralph Guglielmi of Columbus says he expects to sign a professional football contract with the Washington Redskins. The Irish star, the Redskins' first draft choice, says "I would rather play football in the States," although he reported "some fabulous offers from Candada."

Tribe Better, So Are Yanks

Greenberg Sees Stiffer Competition in '55 Chase

By JOHN SHORT

"We're improved but we won't win 111 ball games."

That's the picture forecast for next summer's Cleveland Indians by Hank Greenberg, general manager of the club last night at the fifth annual press-radio dinner of the Tribe at Mansfield.

"The Yanks have improved too. And after all they won 103 games," Greenberg cautioned as he predicted another two-team fight. Acquistion of "Bullet Bob" Turley by the Yanks was called their key deal by Greenberg but he indicated he believed the addition of several rookies to the Tribe roster will offset the Yanks' mound addition.

GREENBERG WAS accompanied to the Mansfield meeting by Nate Wallack, public relations director for the Indians, catcher Jim Hegan and Alvin Silverman, Cleveland Plain Dealer political writer.

Wallack assured the group that ticket plans and prices for the 1955 campaign would be identical to those during last season's pennant drive. He added that the radio situation had not been fully ironed out and left the impression that telecasts of the Tribe games were still a possibility.

The Cleveland GM indicated Manager Al Lopez would go all the way with the outstanding performers from Indianapolis who will report for spring training. He termed last year's pennant a team effort and called it an example of top flight play by newcomers, both rookies and veterans. He praised the work of Vic Wertz, Hal Newhouser, Don Mossie, Ray Narleski, Hal Naragon and Rudy Ragalado.

"The fans liked the new faces," he continued. This year's newcomers will include Herb Score, whom Greenberg described as a cinch for future greatness. "He has the earmarks of becoming not only one of the greats but the greatest," he beamed. Rocky Colovito and Joe Altobelli are two others up from the minor league Indians who Greenberg gives a good chance of sticking.

Greenberg described the Ralph Kiner deal as one which is almost sure to help. "During his worst season, he finished with 22 home runs, 73 RBI's and hit .285," he pointed out. Even a bad year by Kiner will improve the rightfield situation at Cleveland, he believes.

"We can be optimistic as the devil during the winter," the Indian boss told the group but next summer's results will tell the final story. "Last year's record 111 wins speaks for itself but the World Series is a very painful subject," he added.

JIM HEGAN, called by Greenberg "the peoples' choice and a helluva ball player," said, "I can't explain it. No one can." The Tribe's No. 1 receiver said he believed the team relaxed after clinching the pennant in Detroit and was never able to regain its stride. "They were right and we were wrong," he said.

"The Giants are a good ball club but not an overpowering one, one you fear," he said. He compared the World Series winners with the Chicago White Sox. "We want another shot at them next fall," he concluded.

Staley, Adams Sign Redleg Contracts

CINCINNATI (AP) — It's 35 down and three to go for the Cincinnati Redlegs today.

The latest to sign 1955 contracts are Gerry Staley, the righthanded pitcher acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals in a winter deal; third baseman Bobby Adams and Rookie pitcher Don Gross. That brought the total to 35.

Still unsigned are pitcher Bud Podbielan and rookies Angel Scull and Jim Willis.

If Staley gets back into form, he may provide the pitching power division. Adams has been on the Reds' roster since 1946. He hit .269 in 110 games last season. Lefty Gross built up a 12-9 record with Columbia of the South Atlantic League in 1954.

Bowl Action For Cadets Given Okay

WEST POINT, N. Y., (AP)—Army's participation in postseason football games, probably the Sugar or the Cotton bowls, had the backing today of the U. S. Military Academy's Board of Visitors.

The board, an 18-man group composed of members of Congress, the military and civilians, is strictly an advisory organization but its recommendations carry weight in forming policies.

At the board's annual meeting last night at the point, Rep Hebert (D-La) made the motion to permit post season games. It was seconded by Representatives Teague (D-Tex) and Johnson (R-Calif) and met with unanimous approval from the board, headed by Dr. James Baxter III, president of Williams College.

"To all intents and purposes the way has been cleared for the acceptance of a bowl bid by the Army," said Hebert. He said his motion had the backing of Secretary of Defense Wilson and, while not binding on academy authorities, it will be given serious consideration.

Lt. Gen. B. M. Bryan, superintendent of the academy and former Army gridiron star, and Head Coach Earl Blaik both were advised of the board's action. Neither was available for comment.

Although the board's recommendation approved any bowl game, the Cadets probably would be limited to either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl. They are the major bowls not entirely tied up with individual conferences.

Navy broke the ice on bowl games when it sent its team to the Sugar Bowl last Jan. 1, where the Middies defeated Mississippi 21-0.

Y Swim Team To Battle Lima

Local YMCA swimmers will play host to the Lima YMCA Saturday at 2:15 p.m. in a three division swimming meet. The admission charge will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for students to help the team purchase needed equipment.

The intermediate team will be seeking revenge for two defeats at the hands of the Lima team last season when Lima won easily 52-23 and 53-21. The locals have a record of four wins and two losses thus far this season. Wins were over Massillon YMCA, Springfield YMCA twice, and the Columbus Swim Club while losing to the Toledo YMCA and Columbus Swim Club. Lima has one outstanding swimmer in John Mahoney, third place finisher in the Ohio-West Virginia area 200-yard freestyle event last season.

The well balanced Marion squad however rates as favorites to win and has beaten a number of pool records the past week. New marks should be posted in the three freestyle events, the relays, and the century backstroke.

The junior and prep teams are meeting Lima for the first time and so will be facing a team of unknown quality. The Marion juniors will be seeking their first win after dropping close decisions to Massillon Y, Toledo Y, and Sandusky Junior High School. Loss of freestylers Dick Jones and Ken Silverthorn, (who have been out with colds), might hurt the team but it has power in the other events. The Y preps have a win over Massillon but dropped three straight to Toledo Y and Columbus Swim Club twice.

Saturday, Feb. 19, the locals will return the match at the Lima pool.

Carter in Struggle Against DeMarco

BOSTON (AP)—Lightweight boxing king Jimmy Carter—a fellow with a knack for deflating New England's ring idols—meets Boston's newest favorite, welterweight Tony De Marco, in a non-title 10-rounder tonight at Boston Garden.

The 23-year-old De Marco ranks as No. 6 contender for Johnny Saxton's welter crown and boasts a 15-bout winning streak, 11 by knockouts.

Tony will have the pull in the weights, about 143 to Carter's 137, but gives away speed and experience to the cagey champion from New York.

So keen is the interest that Boston Garden probably will be filled to its 13,909 capacity for the non-broadcast, non-televised match.

Fox Hunt Scheduled

An old fashioned ring fox hunt will be held Saturday at Sycamore.

Sponsored by the Texas Township Conservation Club, it is scheduled for 10 a.m. Men will form a ring at four sides of a square and move toward the Harlan Brause farm south of Plankton.

No guns will be allowed, hunters will be armed with clubs.

Transportation from the center of the ring back to the hunters' autos and lunch will be furnished. Hunters are to bring their own tin cup and spoon.

Appearance of Robinson In Cincinnati Is Sought

CINCINNATI (AP)—The next attempt of Sugar Ray Robinson, former world's middleweight champion, for a comeback may be in Cincinnati on March 15 against Johnny Lombardo of Mt Carmel, Pa.

The Cincinnati Boxing and Wrestling Commission yesterday approved the 10-round bout, subject to receipt of signed contracts.

Sugar Ray was whipped badly in his last outing by Tiger Jones.

Edison Cagers Capture Junior Basketball Title

George Whitehead's Edison cagers snared the city junior high cage title by whipping second-place Eber Baker 45-37 Thursday night on the Edison floor.

Edison trailed at halftime but grabbed the lead in the third period and held it the rest of the way. The winners held a 13-10 margin at the close of the first period and fell behind 22-20 at halftime before regaining the lead at 35-33 heading into the final frame. Edison sealed the win by outscoring Baker 10-4 in the last stanza.

The win gave the Edison squad a final 4-0 mark in city league competition, compared to Baker's 2-2 record, and extended its season mark to 10-0. A Baker win would have thrown the league race into a tie between the two squads for the third straight year.

The championship game was almost free of fouls. A total of 11 personals were called with Edison making good on seven of 10 free throw attempts and Baker sinking three of nine.

Ray Huckaba with 14, Jim Anspaugh with nine and Bob Lister and Bob Klingel, each with eight, were big guns for Edison. Dick Penry pumped in 12 for the losers while Vaughn Williams added nine and Everett Shaffstall eight.

Baker was victorious in the preliminary reserve tussle by a 41-39 margin. Steve Flesher with 13 and Mike Chamberlain with eight led the winners while Elmon LeMasters had 16 and Jim Hathaway 11 for Edison.

Edison travels to Kenton Tuesday for its next action.

Ralph Guglielmi of Columbus, All - American football star for Notre Dame, announced Saturday the formation of Guglielmi, Inc., manufacturers of Guglielmi Italian Dressing. The dressing is made from his mother's old-country recipe and has long been a favorite of the residents in Grandview.

Distribution of the dressing will be made through the leading food chains and independent grocers in Columbus and Central Ohio. Plans call for further expansion later to include distribution from coast to coast.

Paul Andrews Favored To Stop Harold Johnson

NEW YORK (AP)—Because Paul Andrews is supposed to be on the way up and Harold Johnson on the way down, Andrews is an 8-5 choice to win their 10-round rematch tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Andrews is No. 2 among the light heavyweight contenders and Johnson is No. 3 but Johnson already had his shot at champion Archie Moore. He was knocked out in the 14th. There has been no demand for a rematch.

NBC will broadcast and telecast the fight at 10 p.m., EST.

STEINBRUNNER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George Steinbrenner, basketball coach at Columbus Aquinas High School, says he will confer Feb. 18 with Northwestern officials on an offer to join the football coaching staff. Lou Saban was recently named head football coach at Northwestern, succeeding Bob Voigts, who resigned.

Marietta Cops 18th Win, Sinks Lutheran Club

By The Associated Press

Another victory by Marietta's Pioneers—their 18th in 20 games—topped a six-game Ohio college basketball card Thursday night.

The southeastern Ohio school, last year's state leaders, boosted its Ohio Conference stock with a 98-82 victory over Wittenberg. A last quarter string of 10 straight points, plus a 29-point output by Mark (Buzzy) Davis, the loop's leading scorer, helped Marietta to its eighth league win without a loss.

In another Ohio Conference fray, Denison took a 68-64 decision from Wooster after a see-saw battle. Denison's Tom Davis had 18 points.

In a Mid-Ohio League contest, freshman Jack Harner's 31 points aided Wilmington in an 87-85 win over Ohio Northern in another spine tingler.

Two other games were decided by a single point.

Central State's Millard Freeman netted two free throws with but 14 seconds remaining as the Marauders won out over Lincoln of Missouri 62-61.

Georgetown of Kentucky gained a 76-75 win over Rio Grande when reserve John Cowan tipped in a rebound with less than a minute to play.

In other action, Kenyon won decisively over Case Tech, 87-69, after trailing at halftime by nine points.

Marion Brick, Tile Nips Richwood Quintet 56-49

Marion Brick and Tile notched a 56-49 victory over Richwood AC Wednesday night in a Tri-County League battle at Morral. The Richwood club moved into a 10-7 lead in the opening period but fell behind 24-19 at the half as the winners' attack perked up.

Jim Shifflet popped in 17 to set the pace for the winners and Charles Rice collected 15 while Gene Craycraft had 10, Cheney's 20 and McElroy with 12 were high for the losers.

Bob Rodgers, lanky junior, pumped in 22 points to pace the Prospect attack. The total gave the county league scoring leader 239 points in 10 loop tilts, an average of 23.9 per contest. Bob Emery dropped in 11 and Landon added 10. Mannie Saxton, Morral's high scorer in county league play with a 17 point game average, netted 16 for the losers. Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Women and Alcohol

When "The Women" was first produced on Broaway in 1936, it caused quite a commotion, partly because it was entirely staffed by women (though they talked almost exclusively about men), partly because it was a savagely witty play, partly because it was given a splendidly opulent production and a fine cast by Max Gordon, and partly because it was the sort of peep show that it was difficult not to talk about.

JOHN CROSBY

As Burns Mantle said in his "Best Play" book of that year, he was moved to blushes not so much by the drama's boldness as by its intimacies. "Miss (Clare) Boothe not only removes the traditional fourth walls of her houses, but likewise the partitions that hide the bathrooms, powder rooms and maternity wards. This serves to put the men a little uncomfortably in the position of so many listening if not peeping Thomasas."

—:—

MRS. LUCE, in short, took us men into a viciously feline world in which women steal each other's men, conspire against one another and comfort themselves with a general absence of scruple that the men found not only surprising but positively alarming. At least, in 1936.

Somehow, the passage of 19 years has mellowed the play or rendered me more immune to shock because NBC-TV's elaborate revival of Clare Boothe Luce's play the other night seemed to have nothing like the bite of the original.

NBC sure shot the works on this one. The cast included Shelley Winters who, as chief husband-stealer was magnificently vulgar; Paulette Goddard, who was superb; Ruth Hussey, who had a thankless part; Mary Astor, who was very beautiful; Mary Boland, whose acting got a trifle excessive, Nancy Olson, whose was cute, Valerie Bettis, who was not as tigerish as usual; and Cathleen Nesbitt, who resemble womanhood as we men like to think of it, fools that we are.

THE PRODUCTION was in color and among a host of settings was one in which Miss Winters took a bubble bath in a green marble tub in the shape of a Venetian gondola — "a riot of bad taste," as set designer Paul Barnes candidly admitted.

But with all this, "The Women" was a disappointment. For one thing, the Luce play is badly dated 19 years later, the wit seems a little labored and some of the more dramatic lines seem a little corny and theatrical. I also have an idea that the sort of play "The Women" is—with its crisscross of plot and counterplot—is a little too cluttered for television. So much is going on that it's hard to follow.

DIRECTLY FOLLOWING the "The Women" came the Robert Montgomery production of "The Lost Weekend" with Mr. Montgomery playing the part of the souse. I'm told that neither Mr. Montgomery's performance nor the TV production measured up to Ray Milland's performance in the movie, which I' mafrad I didn't see. Maybe not, but just the same Montgomery gave a whale of a performance for my money. I've now seen him play two distinguished drunks — once as the hero of John O'Hara's "Appointment in Samarra" and this one.

There was a subtle difference. O'Hara's hero is not an alcoholic in this sense. This man is, and from the very first there is defeat in Montgomery's face, a sort of terrible recognition and acceptance of his weakness I thought it was a fine performance.

"THE LOST WEEKEND" is perfect television fare because its story moves in a single straight line and deals with a single problem and a single character. Actually, there are very few characters in it and those that are there — the brother, the sweetheart, the bartender — have no separate problems of their own — or if they have we're not told about them — beyond their linkage to the drunk. This gives the show a terrible impact.

As a live TV production, from beginning to end, it was pretty wonderful.

Liability Rates On Automobile Insurance Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Bureau of Casualty Insurers, an insurance rating organization, announced Thursday it had filed substantial automobile liability premium reductions with the state insurance department.

Ray H. Miller, bureau manager, said reductions were filed in behalf of his firm's member and subscriber companies and cover passenger cars.

The premiums, going into effect Feb. 16, will save Ohio policyholders of subscriber companies more than three million dollars annually, Miller said The reductions, Miller said, range from 10 to 17 per cent and apply to all territories in the state, applicable also to all classes of private passenger car risks, subject to certain exceptions The female driver under age 25 has been removed from the higher rated classification, and now will be written at the premium applicable to a driver over age 25

The action also provides that a male driver under 25 who has completed a recognized driver training course will be given a 15 per cent credit on his automobile liability premium.

The Ohio insurance companies represented by the bureau include: Automobile Club Insurance Co., Beacon Mutual Indemnity Co., Buckeye Union Casualty Co., Buckeye Union Fire Insurance Co, Celina Mutual Insurance Co, Cincinnati Insurance Co, Merchants' & Manufacturers' Mutual Insurance Co, Ohio Casualty Insurance Co., Ohio Farmers Indemnity Co., Ohio Farmers Insurance Co, Ohio Valley Automobile Insurance Co, Republic Indemnity, Shelby Mutual State Automobile Mutual and Western Reserve Mutual.

Poor Atttendance Put State Fair in Red, Rhodes Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes said Thursday a final audit shows the 1954 Ohio State Fair ended $7,078.92 in the red.

This compared with a $1,351.71 deficit in the 1953 sesquicentennial fair. Rhodes said the audit report showed receipts of $654,142 87 and expenditures of $681,221.89.

The report said poor attendance, lowest since 1940, accounted for the entire deficit. Paid admissions were 240,794 in 1954, compared with 287,533 in 1953 and 352,371 in 1945, the fair's best year.

Admissions revenue was $195,901.76, a drop of $36,390.23 from the previous year.

Kiwanis Hears International Trustee

H. W. 'Ike' Driver Gives Address on Goals of Organization

The Marion Kiwanis Club was host to the ranking Kiwanian in the Ohio District, H. W. (Ike) Driver of Euclid, O., at its meeting Thursday noon at Hotel Harding. He is an international trustee of Kiwanis.

Subject of his talk was "We Build — Our Responsibility," which is the Kiwanis Club motto.

Driver was first elected an international trustee in 1952, then was re-elected for another two-year term in 1954. A Kiwanian for 18 years and a member of the Euclid, O., club, he served as its president in 1940. He served as lieutenant governor of the old Sixth District in 1943 and as governor of the Ohio District in 1946. He has held various committee chairmanships on all levels, club, district and international. He has a record of 17 years' perfect attendance at meetings of his club.

IN ADDITION to Marion club members and guests, a number of Kiwanians were present from various clubs in this area to hear his message regarding Kiwanians and each member's individual responsibilities to his club and community.

He pointed out that "we are interested in what a Kiwanis Club does but more particularly are we interested in what the individual Kiwanian does because it is building as individuals or personal service to our fellow man and to our communities that makes our motto 'We Build' our actuality."

"Kiwanians," he said, "are men with a desire to be useful to others, who share the philosophy of William Penn who said 'men must be governed by God or they will be governed by tyrants,' men in whose minds and hearts thankfulness rings that their organization lives in lands where liberties are still precious things, and who firmly believe that the United States and Canada are still the hope of the world and that with the assistance of other English speaking countries will evolve a true and lasting peace."

THE SPEAKER told his audience that the important factor in our living is based upon the disapproval of religious connections by certain European and Asiatic governments and with the failure of many of our own people to spare the time for religious observance. Too frequently, he added, many of us think of our God as a lawyer and go to Him only when we are in trouble.

"We have faith in our homes, our churches, our schools, our communities, our state, our nation and world and when we combine these faiths of cause with our faith in God, we have the powers to accomplish anything we desire in the field of service and particularly in the field of Kiwanis service," he said.

"Faith affords an opportunity to each and everyone of us to help achieve divine harmony out of discord of human fear, suffering and degradation. It gives us the opportunity to emphasize proper spiritual values through our Kiwanis organization that will not only justify our existence and our continued effort and time, but also the betterment of the various communities in which we live."

HE URGED Kiwanis members to keep in mind that their association with the club gives them the opportunity of assuming 'responsibilities for the welfare of their fellowmen.

He was introduced by Grant M. Hinkamp, club program chairman for the day. They were students together at Purdue University, where both were studying engineering.

Visiting Kiwanians attended from these clubs:

Delaware: Harvey Bargar, John C. Crites, Robert Strimer, and Wayne Hilborn.

Crestline: E. Godfrey Anderson, Carl M. Lesley, and Bert Ogle.

Marysville: Delmar W. Smith, M. L. Postle, H. W. Carr, and Orville Hollinger.

Mount Vernon: Philip M. Wallace, Wayne Burkhart, Robert G. Farmer, and Fred M. Pharis.

Bucyrus: Vince Schumacher, H. F. Conrad, F. P. Dagher, and Hal Wilson.

Galion: R. W. Wiseman, C. L. Mochel, L. B. Schuler, and Ralph Workman.

Mount Gilead: John Matthews, Harold J. Miller, W. S. Belt, and L. L. Garver.

A guest was John Fisher from Marion.

KIWANIS INTERNATIONAL Trustee H. W. Driver (left) of Euclid, O., chats with Grant M. Hinkamp, Marion Kiwanis Club program chairman for the day, following Driver's address to the local club Thursday. The speaker pointed out that Kiwanians are men with a desire to be useful to others.

Judge Says More Details Required For Kearns Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Common Pleas Judge Ralph J. Bartlett yesterday decreed that expanded details must be made on charges against Franklin County Prosecutor Frank W. Kearns and County Detective Fred W. Selby.

The ruling came after three special prosecutors in the case—Justin L. Sillman, Robert E. Albright and R. Rush Warren — asserted Kearns and Selby were not entitled to "state's evidence."

Joint indictments involving 13 charges were returned against Kearns and Selby last Jan. 7. Charges included embezzlement and soliciting a bribe.

Student Quits School In Row Over Dungarees

WHEATON, Md. (AP)—Without giving a specific reason, 17-year-old Paul McQuain—whose attire drew the wrath of school officials—has withdrawn from Wheaton High School.

Young McQuain, a junior, was sent home in January and told not to come back in the tight-fitting dungarees he was wearing. He returned to school only once, wearing conventional clothing, to take midterm exams.

Principal Elwood B. Mason said two counselors tried without success to persuade the boy to remain in school.

Salvation Army Plans To Show Religious Film

A film, "This Gathering Storm," will be shown at 8 o'clock tonight in the Salvation Army Citadel. The story takes the viewer along the Korean battleground with Evangelist Billy Graham preaching to United Nations troops and Korean refugees; to India and its restless search for peace and to the shores of Japan where nationalism is experiencing a rebirth.

Shown are actual scenes of snake charmers, Hindu religious rites and dances, multitudes bathing in the Ganges River, the sacrificing of a bull in a religious ceremony, all contrasted with thousands listening the preaching of Dr. Bob Pierce.

There are three great classifications of rocks constituting the earth's suface—igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic.
